Indonesians Say Dutch Drives On Capital Checked

BATAVIA (AP) — Cheribon, important northwest Java port, has fallen to a Dutch tank attack, but Indonesian Republicans said today they had turned back a strong Dutch drive on their capital of Jogjakarta and now were closing in on the north Java port of Semarang. A Dutch army communique announced the capture of the port of Cheribon.

The Indonesian radio said the Dutch used a striking force of 50 tanks in an assault Wednesday afternoon against Cheribon, birthplace of the Indonesian independence agreement. These forces, the broadcast said, bypassed Soemadang and Kadipaten.

An Indonesian army communique said Republican forces in the east-central sector had seized Modjokerto, on the outer rim of the Dutch perimeter around the once-powerful naval base of Soerabaja. This was one of the areas held by the Dutch before the outbreak of hostilities last Sunday. Modjokerto is 28 miles southwest of Soerabaja.

HARASSING ACTION

The Modjokerto action apparently was an attempt by the Republicans to harass Dutch forces driving on the stronghold of Malang. The Indonesian communique said the drive had been halted 35 miles southeast of the city.

The Indonesian objective in central Java was to stop armored spearheads driving on Jogjakarta. Indonesian news reports said the Dutch had withdrawn more than 10 miles and that Teentang, highway junction south of Semarang, had been recaptured by the Republicans.

The Dutch denied the drive on Jogjakarta had been halted.

Premier Amir Sjarifoeddin told a press conference in Jogjakarta that the Dutch drives on Jogjakarta and Malang were stopped, at least temporarily, but he said he could not confirm the report.

U.S., Russia Split Again, This Time Over Japan Treaty

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new split between the United States and Russia—this time over drafting a Japanese peace treaty—threatens today to destroy what little unity remains between the great powers.

Another prospect is that it may delay indefinitely work on a peace settlement for Japan.

Up to this week there had been considerable hope here that Washington and Moscow would be able to devise some means for fashioning the Japanese treaty which would eliminate many of the frictions that have beset peace-making in Europe.

Russia's rejection Wednesday of American proposals along this line greatly dimmed, if it did not kill off, these hopes.

Some officials said the major question now facing the United States and other governments interested in early progress on the Far East peace settlement is whether they should go ahead with a "separate peace"—that is, a treaty without Russia.

But there is a question whether this could be done legally.

While an interpretation remains to be worked out, some authorities recalled that as early as the United Nations' declaration of January, 1942, the United States, Britain, Russia and other major nations at war with the Axis pledged themselves "not to make a separate armistice or peace with the enemies."

Russia was not then at war with Japan, so it is a question whether the pledge would be considered legally binding in the present situation.

of the Dutch withdrawal as far as Teentang.

Lt.-Gen. Siem B. Spoor, commanding the Dutch campaign, said the Indonesians for the most part were in flight. He denied the Indonesians had retaken Salatiga, insisting Dutch troops remained in the town, which is astride a mountain highway leading to Jogjakarta.

APPEALS TO TRUMAN

JOGJAKARTA, Java (AP) — President Soekarno of the Indonesian Republic broadcast an appeal today to President Truman and the U.S. people "to exert every effort to halt this war in Indonesia."

RUSSIA JOINS DEBATE

LONDON (AP) — Russian radio commentator Leo Chernyavsky said today in a Moscow radio broadcast that "direct intervention of the United States in the Indonesian problem" had encouraged The Netherlands government to resort to "a policy of force" in Indonesia.

"The world is thus confronted with a new fire in the west kindled at the instructions and in the interest of colonial monopolists," the commentator declared.

(It was not clear from the broadcast on what Chernyavsky based his charges of "United States intervention." He may, however, have been alluding to an "aide memoire" in which the United States on June 28 urged the Indonesian Republic to "co-operate without delay" in formation of a federal government and indicated the U.S. would be ready to discuss the question of economic help for Indonesia when such a government was formed.)

the struggle of the Indonesians against "terrible odds."

Departing from a talk on an economic and employment commission report, Nehru said that "India and Asia sympathize with Indonesia in her struggle against terrible odds."

He said he would not comment further now for fear of being accused of injecting political subjects into the economic talks.

Ivan Kerno, assistant secretary-general of the U.N., told a press conference that the secretariat has received nothing officially concerning the Indonesian struggle except a memorandum from the Dutch government informing the U.N. that the Netherlands government had been compelled to resort to "police measures" against the Indonesians because of continued "acts of violence."

Carelessness Cause Of Blast In Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — German police today officially blamed on "gross carelessness" in the handling of old munitions marked for disposal an explosion which Wednesday destroyed part of a police headquarters building in the Russian sector of this city, killed nine persons and injured nine.

All the victims were Germans.

Although a British-licensed newspaper suggested there was a possibility sabotage was responsible for the explosion, police headquarters denied this.

MILESTONE, Sask. (CP) — A joint Liberal and Progressive Conservative nominating convention Wednesday named a joint candidate to represent the Milestone provincial constituency in the next Saskatchewan election.

Originally called as a Liberal nominating convention, the meeting passed a resolution approving joint action by the two parties and nominated Lionel Aston, 48, Avonlea merchant, as candidate.

Fifteen Terrorists Caught In British Palestine Search

All males between the ages of 16 and 45 years of age were examined by British troops at "screening centres" in Nathanya, Palestine, where two British sergeants were kidnapped. The sergeants, Clifford Martin and Mervyn Plaico, still are missing. The town was declared a "controlled area." Fifteen wanted terrorists were caught by searching troops.

When 4,500 illegal Jewish immigrants attempted to land in Palestine from the Ss. Exodus 1947, above, the vessel was seized by a British naval force, but not until the Jews had put up a stiff fight, using tear gas, steam jets and smoke bombs. Taken from the ship, the immigrants were sent back on other vessels to Marseille, France, from where they had set out.

Jerusalem Alarms Sounded As British Battle Gunmen

JERUSALEM (AP) — Gunmen turned back toward France the 4,500 Jews intercepted on the Ss. President Warfield, also called "Exodus of 1947." It made within a few yards of the Jewish Agency and the Goldsmiths Officers' Club, which previously had been wrecked by a bomb.

Six men were reported by a reliable informant to have robbed a Tel Aviv diamond merchant's office of $40,000 in cut and uncut stones at noon. A similar robbery and another $40,000 haul was made Wednesday. The informant said members of the underground Stern Gang, seeking funds for further operations against Britain, were known to be operating diamond-polishing shops in private houses and selling the products in Europe.

The alarm was the 10th in more than a week of attacks which have left 10 dead and 73 wounded.

Australian Workers Boycott Dutch Ships

SYDNEY (Reuters) — The federal executive of the Australian Waterside Workers' Federation today decided to ban the loading of all Dutch ships in Australian ports.

Announcing they would reconsider this decision only when hostilities ceased, they asked the World Federation of Trade Unions to urge a world-wide ban on the Dutch steamship Groot Kerk which unexpectedly left Sydney tonight.

Australian trade unions were sending resolutions calling on the federal government to cite the Indonesian fighting to the United Nations.

Crerar Heads Party Of Canadians Asked To Japan By Allies

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister King announced today that Gen. H. D. G. Crerar will head a Canadian party leaving Ottawa July 26 to visit Japan at the invitation of Allied commanders there.

Other members of the official party will be Brig. Sherwood Lett, Vancouver, and Roland Bock, Montreal, president of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association.

The mission will be accompanied by Air Commodore C. B. N. Godwin, air member for staff plans, Col. F. LeP. T. Cliford, Canadian military attaché to China, and R. E. Collins of the Canadian Embassy at Washington, alternate member on the Far Eastern Commission.

Two members of the party, Air Commodore Godwin and Mr. Collins, later will go to Canberra with S. H. Norman, head of the Canadian liaison mission in Japan, to act as advisers to Defence Minister Claxton when he heads the Canadian delegation attending the Commonwealth meeting there Aug. 26 to discuss the Japan peace treaty.

Seamen's Union Dispute Appears Coming To Boil

By CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's turbulent Great Lakes sailors' dispute promised to come to a fiercer boil today with J. A. (Pat) Sullivan's "exposure" of the Canadian Seamen's Union's allegedly Communist-inspired tactics among lake shipping.

The fiery little labor leader, at present facing a charge of intent to maim a member of the C.S.U. following a fight in Montreal, said he would distribute a pamphlet along the Montreal waterfront today which would be "a bigger exposure" of the C.S.U. than he made at the time of his resignation from its presidency. At that time he claimed it was Communist-dominated.

MEDIATOR AT WORK

In a day that saw in-camera negotiations continuing at Toronto with Leonard Brockington, government mediator, attempting to avert a threatened sailors' strike in the dispute between the C.S.U. and two steamship companies, these were other developments Wednesday:

1. Three more Great Lakes lines have announced a $10-a-month wage increase, effective Aug. 1, in line with similar increases by Canada Steamship Lines Ltd. and Sarnia and Colonial Steamships Ltd., the National Seamen's Association of Canada said. They are the Mohawk Navigation Co. Ltd., North American Transports Ltd. and Inland Mines Ltd.

2. Mr. Sullivan claimed his Canadian Lake Seamen's Union now represents a majority of the Canada Steamship Lines' 1,400 employees. The C.S.U. and the Sarnia line are the two involved in the dispute with the C.S.U.

PROGRAM FOR 1947

3. Harry Davis, president of the C.S.U., described the increase announced by the latter two companies as "the initial payment towards the Canadian Seamen's Union's wage program for 1947."

The major issue in the dispute is the refusal of the C.S.U. and the Sarnia line to grant passes to representatives of the Canadian Seamen's Union unless they sign an affidavit that they are not Communists. The union claims the lines are attempting to break it by firing C.S.U. men and replacing them with seamen recruited by Sullivan. This they charge is a breach of contract.

Revive Hopes For Russo-British Pact

LONDON (CP) — A Board of Trade spokesman reported today that Britain's trade mission in Moscow had put off its return to London, scheduled tentatively for today, thus raising hopes once again that a projected British-Russian trade agreement might still be concluded.

J. Harold Wilson, chief British negotiator, Wednesday night saw Russia's Foreign Trade Minister, A. I. Mikoyan, in what was generally thought might be their final meeting.

The Board of Trade spokesman said he had received cabinet instructions to place before the Russians this country's "final offer" for wheat supplies the Soviet Union had indicated would be available.

The spokesman said today: "We received a cable late Wednesday night from Wilson reporting he would not be coming back today. This suggests the Russians may have modified their wheat price demands."

Wading Pools Get Extra Chlorine

Water being used in city wading pools is receiving an extra dose of chlorine to protect the children from possible infection by polymyositis or other diseases, Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical health officer, said today.

He said it was not planned at present to drain the pools as is being done in Vancouver, where there is a polymyositis epidemic. Up to the present time there has been only one case of polio in Victoria, but should more cases occur, immediate action will be taken to do everything possible to stem an outbreak, Dr. Anderson indicated.

"We do not want to take unnecessary action which may cause the people to panic," he said.

There are no plans to close the baby clinics here as yet either, as has been done in Nanaimo.

Dr. Anderson warned parents to keep kids down, and to keep children out of crowds as much as possible.

Veto By Soviet May Force U.S. To Take Action

LAKE SUCCESS (AP) — Certain United Nations' delegates expressed belief today that the future of the world organization might hinge on the outcome of the showdown fight between the United States and Russia over the Balkans.

Authoritative sources said that if Russia vetoes United States proposal to set up an international watch over the Balkan borders, Britain, the United States and other countries might feel forced to take action outside the United Nations.

Although British and United States officials here were reluctant to discuss such drastic action, it was learned the idea of establishing a border watch commission outside the United Nations was being considered as a last resort should Russia balk Security Council action on the Balkans.

There still was some hope among delegates that Russia would abstain when the council votes on the United States proposal for a semi-permanent Balkan border watch.

The Security Council scheduled two meetings today on the Balkan problem, but it appeared that a vote on the United States plan would not be reached before next week.

There was a general feeling that the crisis would come when the vote is taken, for only then will the council members know definitely the Russian position.

Five Mountaineers Tackle Big Rainier Glacier; Seek Lost Plane

LONGMIRE, Mount Rainier

National Park (AP) — From a 5,800-foot high base camp, a party of five experienced mountaineers faced a tortuous climb today to Mt. Rainier's formidable South Tahoma Glacier in quest of the wreckage of the U.S. Marine transport plane which disappeared last Dec. 10 with 32 men aboard.

The trek over treacherous icy and rocky terrain was expected to require at least four or five hours, depending on conditions close to the 10,000-foot level, where Assistant Ranger Bill Butler saw through field glasses Monday what he believes to be scattered pieces of the missing plane.

Forest rangers reported the face of the glacier crossed with "terrible crevasses, some so deep a whole plane could drop into them."

Butler reported the glacier was covered with several feet of packed snow and "it seems extremely doubtful that bodies will be found." The climbers are equipped with ice axes, ropes and a short-wave radio.

Parents of two Washington State marines who were aboard the plane on the ill-fated San Diego-Seattle flight came to the mountain Wednesday to watch the search preparations. They are Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Walker of Hoquiam and Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Simmons of Kalama. The two families were active in promoting the $5,000 reward for discovery of the missing transport.

Ranger Butler, who spotted through field glasses from a high ridge what he believed to be an airplane bucket seat and part of a fuselage, is leading the ascending party.

Appeal Launched To Prohibit Trial Of Nanaimo Laundry Union

Notice of appeal was filed at the courthouse at Victoria today by Robert J. McMaster, on behalf of Mrs. Eula Patterson, from the judgment of Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane disallowing Mrs. Patterson's application for a writ, to prohibit court action against the striking Laundry and Dry Cleaning Workers' Union (C.C.L.) of Nanaimo.

Mr. Justice Macfarlane's judgment made Tuesday in Vancouver dismissed the motion to make final the Writ of Prohibition issued by the Supreme Court of B.C., pursuant to the Rule Nisi of Mr. Justice J. M. Coady, June 30.

The appeal, to be heard here in September, before the Appeal Court, will move that Mr. Justice Macfarlane's judgment be set aside and the Supreme Court of British Columbia or judge thereof be directed to make final and absolute the Rule Nisi of Mr. Justice Coady.

Mrs. Patterson, president of the union, was served with the charge against the organization and early this month applied for a writ of prohibition.

20 GROUNDS OF APPEAL

The appeal will be based on 20 grounds. Included in these are:

That the judge erred in finding, that under the terms of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, the magistrate had jurisdiction over the subject matter in the charge.

That he erred in finding regularly of alleged service on Nanaimo Dry Cleaning and Laundry Workers' Union, Local No. 1, under any provincial statute, a matter for the magistrate.

Other grounds were that the judge erred in assuming that Canadian Congress of Labor or Nanaimo Dry Cleaners and Laundry Workers' Union, or either of them, is a trade union; that he had any jurisdiction to determine whether either group was a trade union; in not finding that a trade union is only the agent for a unit appropriate for collective bargaining under the I.C.A. Act, and is not authorized to declare a strike.

Further grounds were that the judge erred: in not finding that a trade union is not a person liable under the section of the act, under which the information was laid; in finding Summary Convictions Act defined "person" as including a corporation, partnership or party; in finding that Section 38 of the Act, declares that a trade union which asserts to the commission of an offence is a party to that offence; in holding, if he did so hold, that the Nanaimo Union was a party to the application of Eula Patterson to Mr. Justice Coady, following which the order or rule Nisi of Mr. Justice Coady was made June 30.

British M.P.'s Snore In All-Night Sitting; Pass Transport Bill

LONDON (CP) — Red-eyed, haggard members of the House of Commons—some stretched out and snoring and one barking like a dog—ended a near-record all-night sitting at 10.50 a.m. London time today.

In the 20-hour sitting, which saw accusations of drunkenness hurled across the House floor, the heavy Labor majority defeated 42 House of Lords amendments to the £1,000,000,000 ($4,000,000,000) Transport Nationalization Bill.

The acrimonious session broke up with a discussion of greyhound racing, enlivened when an unidentified member barked merrily for nearly two minutes.

Longer than any sitting of this Parliament except the 21-hour 17-minute debate on the National Service Bill last May, the overnight marathon virtually put finishing touches to a measure bringing railroads and long-distance motor transport under public ownership.

Rejection of the House of Lords' amendments left the Upper House to decide whether it wants to force its constitutional rights in a battle. The Labor commoners firmly refused to accept amendments to the measure which would limit ministerial and other government powers when inland transport is nationalized.

The Conservative-dominated House of Lords now will be informed that the changes it recommended have been refused by the Lower House. The peers must then decide whether to accept the legislation as the Commons wants it or to use its power to delay the bill coming into force.

Stone-wall obstruction by the peers is not expected in political circles, but if it should develop the government might try to reduce the Lords' powers and make sure the Socialist program was carried through.

RECORD IN 1881

The long House of Commons sitting was far below the all-time record in 1881 when members sat for 41½ hours.

The latest night-long debate was sometimes bitter and after Conservative charges of political patronage opportunities offered by nationalization, Herbert Morrison, government leader in the Commons complained of "smear tactics and mud-slinging."

The issue of greyhounds came in a 30-minute period at the end when members discussed whether mid-week racing could be allowed without affecting factory production.

Bigger Variety Of Canned Fruits Now In Prospect

OTTAWA (CP) — The Department of Agriculture came up today with this good word for the Canadian housewife: "There'll be a good variety of canned fruits and vegetables on your grocer's shelves this winter."

It's true there is a short crop of some kinds of fruits and vegetables. Strawberries, perhaps, produced about the only bumper crop—forecasting more strawberry jam—but the department said that despite this, commercial canning companies will nevertheless be able to keep the consumers happy. And there'll be plenty for the home-canning housewife.

F. J. Perry, chief canning inspector of the department, is the man who keeps his eye on the canning crops and tells Canadians the prospects about this time of year. And this year he finds many a cheerful item. Here is the way he sees it, subject, of course to continued good growing weather.

More strawberry jam than usual, but no more frozen strawberries than were packed last year.

There'll be a less than average pack of canned cherries. A fair-sized pack in British Columbia is more than balanced by the small quantity available for canning in Ontario.

The good crop of both raspberries and loganberries assures an average pack of these fruits.

Deliveries of apricots to canners in British Columbia have been only about 30 per cent. of normal. There'll be a larger than average pack of canned peaches and there are prospects for a good crop of plums, especially of prune plums. A reduced crop of pears will result in a reduced pack. The quantity of apples to be canned and dehydrated depends largely on the requirements of the United Kingdom.

W. M. Neal, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, has accepted an invitation to be a guest at a civic luncheon to be held in the Empress Hotel, Aug. 18, John Baxter, mayor's secretary, said today. Mr. Neal will be accompanied by 10 directors of the company.

Youngsters Enjoy Yacht Club Cruise

VANCOUVER (CP) — About 180 smiling youngsters, patients from the Crippled Children's Hospital here, were treated to a gala afternoon of sailing by the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club Wednesday.

For the majority of the care-free and happy children it was the first cruise in any kind of boat.

Taking turns at the wheels of some of the finest yachts to be seen in these parts, the youngsters skipped their way across English Bay, around Coal Harbor and back to the exclusive club at Jericho Beach. Loaded to the gunwales with ice cream, chocolate milk and firemen's hats, the craft rocked and rolled with the singing children for a full afternoon.

Yacht club officials said it was such a successful afternoon that it would now be an annual event, bigger and better every year.

First Grain Ship Sails For Churchill

The next sailing will be the Empire Beatrice, leaving England Aug. 2 and due in Churchill about Aug. 19 to pick up timber as well as grain.

583 Families Move To B.C.; 306 Leave

A total of 583 families moved to British Columbia during July, while 306 families left the province, according to a report of W. R. Bone, regional director of Family Allowances.

Leading the influx were "Saskatchewan families, which numbered 198; second were Alberta families, with 186, and third, Manitoba, with 96.

The three prairie provinces received 49, 127 and 34 British Columbia families, respectively.

Allowances paid in B.C. during the month reached an all-time high, with $1,473,943 going out to 130,920 families in which there are 242,314 children.

Marshall Field To Buy Another Paper

CHICAGO (AP) — Marshall Field, publisher of the Chicago Sun and the New York PM announced Wednesday he had offered to buy the Chicago Daily Times, afternoon tabloid, "to expand my Chicago newspaper interest."

Field said he had offered $60 a share for the stock of the Times, and that Richard J. Finnegan, publisher of the Times, and two of his associates "are agreeable to that price" and were transmitting the proposal to their fellow stockholders.

The Sun's publisher stated he hoped to publish the Sun in the morning, the Times in the afternoon, and a Sun-Times on Sunday, all in tabloid form. Field currently has no interests in Chicago's afternoon newspaper field. The Sun is a standard-size, morning newspaper.

Finnegan said that in the event that all outstanding shares were sold to Field, the total purchase price of the Times would be $5,338,620.

The Times, founded Sept. 3, 1929, has a daily circulation of 474,419. The Sun, founded Dec. 4, 1941, has a daily circulation of 362,294.

Alberta's Welfare Dept. Silent Under Charges Of I.O.D.E.

EDMONTON (CP) — The Alberta government maintained silence today in the face of charges that the province's aged are being exploited by "commercialized care" and that bureaucratic principles characterize the province's administration of child welfare.

Health Minister Cross said the government would await a report from the judicial inquiry into the policies of the child welfare branch of his department before making any statement.

The charges were contained in the report of a welfare study committee sponsored by the Provincial Chapter of the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, released Wednesday night. The committee was headed by Mrs. R. C. Marshall of Edmonton, with Dr. Charlotte Whitton, Ottawa Social Welfare Worker, as technical director.

ADOPTION OF CHILDREN

The committee charged that children are being sent into the United States for adoption "without the due social safeguards in respect to their own welfare or the adopting family," and that Alberta's homeless, chronically ill and infirm are in "the most terrible plight of any of Alberta's disadvantaged citizens."

In particular, housing of the aged poor had been made their own responsibility and "the resultant plight . . . is disgraceful and their exploitation in commercialized care deplorable." Fewer than 300 beds, beyond a few, small private-pay homes, some with indifferent standards, were available for the 2,500 in need of immediate care outside their own homes.

Turning to child welfare, the report said the superintendent of child welfare, directly or through the commission, "holds and exercises powers without parallel in any enactment in the study's knowledge except one in Hitler's Germany and certain provisions in the code of the Soviet Union but which, it is understood, have been recently modified."

Under this "increasing dictatorial power" there had been a serious deterioration in child and family protection.

Braefoot Homes Will Be Repaired Promptly, Promises Victoria M.P.

"Before we are through, we will provide nice, cosy little homes, of which the men can be proud," R. W. Mayhew, M.P., said today, after an inspection of one of the Veterans Land Act houses on the Braefoot estate.

Mr. Mayhew said he was going back to Braefoot today, with officials of the V.L.A. office here, to make a thorough inspection of all the homes about which there have been complaints.

Wednesday afternoon he visited one of the homes, on which work is being done. The painters are working on the interior, he reported, and have made the house "a very cosy, liveable, little house on the inside."

However, the outside is in very bad condition, he said, and he is recommending to Veterans' Affairs Minister Ian Mackenzie that new siding be put on the house.

"It won't be cosy long unless we get that outside fixed up," Mr. Mayhew commented, "as nothing has been done since I saw it in Easter, and it is in worse shape than ever."

He admitted the Braefoot houses "no doubt cost too much money, but that is the way with all houses being built today," and gave assurance that they will all be fixed up so that the residents can be proud of them.

He also said he had noted the outside drains had not been fixed up yet.

Meeting Discusses
All Sooke Day,
Town Planning

SOOKE — Sooke Community Association met in the community hall here, under chairmanship of A. F. Brownsey, to discuss final plans for All Sooke Day, next Wednesday, and to hear an address by Dr. J. L. Gayton, director of Saanich and South Vancouver Island health unit.

Reports on All Sooke Day were given by Capt. P. W. de P. Taylor, chairman of the reception committee; Robert Acreman, sports chairman, who reported that a trophy would be presented to the winner of the high rigger's contest, a new event this year in the loggers' display; Fred Thorner, Milne's Landing postmaster, who said his store on the picnic grounds would be run as usual, with all proceeds to go to the All Sooke Day fund. Other chairmen reporting were: Charles Jackman, midway; Joseph Collins, prizes; Arthur Morris, property and grounds; Mrs. Donald Morrison, first aid; Frank Gray, dance at night, and John Bowden, advertising.

D. J. De Rochie reported all the challenge cups awarded in 1941, would again be available for this year's contests with the exception of one.

Introduced by Mrs. Brownsey, Dr. Gayton spoke briefly on the subject of "Regulated Areas."

Dr. Gayton introduced A. G. Graham, regional supervisor of the Bureau of Reconstruction, who gave a detailed talk on the subject. Mr. Graham outlined the advantages of the control of subdivisions, playgrounds, schools and parks locations and zoning. He spoke also of parallel highways found in Alberta.

He referred to the national building code which requires there be a minimum floor space in dwellings, and that buildings which have become unsightly and uninhabitable be removed. Maps of town planning areas were shown with the suggested Sooke area to extend to Muir Creek.

A committee of three was chosen to look further into the question of town planning. The three are: Mrs. Brownsey, Mr. Acreman and Mrs. G. A. Acreman.

Henderson G. Watts, sanitary inspector of the Saanich and South Vancouver Island health unit, spoke briefly.

Must Label Furs
With Correct Names

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian fur buyers will be able to find out just what they're getting under new regulations announced today by Trade Minister MacKinnon.

Under the provisions, the dealer is required to state in all advertisements, labels or receipts, the kind of fur, its actual origin, whether it is second-hand, or whether it has been treated by dyeing, tipping or blending. The regulations were prepared by the standards division of the Trade Department in consultation with the retail trade.

Plan 1,000 Low Cost
Homes For Vancouver
Mackenzie Reveals

VANCOUVER (CP) — A solution has been found to make effective plans for building 1,000 low-cost homes in Vancouver, Veterans Minister Ian Mackenzie said here today.

Four hundred homes will be earmarked for veterans' families now living in the old Hotel Vancouver, and the remainder rented by War-time Housing Ltd.

He did not give details of the solution as final decision has yet to be made.

Mr. Mackenzie charged that Vancouver is the only city in Canada which has not provided lots for veterans' housing.

He took a firm stand against increased allowances for student veterans.

"There is no question that the cost of living has gone up," he said. "There will be hardships. The incentive to overcome difficulties makes the most brilliant students in the world."

He added that the Veterans' Land Act Administration had "definitely been strengthened," through recent reshuffle, and confirmed that some of the contracts had been "carelessly handled."

Mr. Mackenzie said preliminary discussions were held last week on "re-zoning the province for federal purposes," and appointment of "two or three" Liberal Party organizers. He did not elaborate.

R.C.M.P. Criticized
By Magistrate In Drug Prosecution

OTTAWA (CP)—A rap over the knuckles for the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for its handling of an Ottawa narcotics case was handed down in court here today by Magistrate Glenn Strick.

The magistrate was hearing R.C.M.P. evidence against Dr. Adna Anson Reeves, an Alberta physician charged with illegal possession of morphine. Decision on the charge was reserved.

Gordon Gilchrist, Ottawa pharmacist, was asked by Crown counsel to point out Dr. Reeves from a crowd seated in the courtroom. After doing this, he testified Dr. Reeves had presented him with a prescription for 16 quarter-grain tablets of morphine certified by an Ottawa doctor.

Under cross-examination by Defence Counsel R. K. Laishley, Gilchrist admitted the R.C.M.P. had shown him a picture of Dr. Reeves and had "suggested" he was the man for whom he had filled the prescription.

Magistrate Strick criticized the R.C.M.P. for preparing a case in this way and upheld Defence Counsel Laishley's argument that a single photo could not be shown to an identifying witness if a hope was held for conviction.

New Bond Issue

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has decided to float this fall another issue of Canada savings bonds similar to those placed on public sale last fall, it was learned authoritatively today.

Say Longshoremen
Foiled Customs Man

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two longshoremen are in custody of Royal Canadian Mounted Police here today on charges of obstructing a customs officer during unloading operations from a ship.

The men, Jacob Baumgartner, 34, and Joseph Logan, 41, were said by police to have been engaged in unloading liquor from the British freighter Cape Hawke. Upon leaving for the day they were approached by a customs officer for questioning and search.

One of the men "put up an argument," the police stated, and threw away his lunch kit. He then shouted to the other worker, who threw the kit into the sea.

Warmer In Midwest

NEW YORK (AP) — In language strange for late July, the United States Weather Bureau says that "relief from the unseasonably low temperatures is in prospect for the midwestern states" tonight.

Cold air from Canada has moved to the Appalachians, the bureau said, and cloudy skies will hold whatever heat there is closer to earth.

The plains states were the only rain areas this morning, and Florida and spots in the midwest may get wet tonight.

Agriculture supports about 90 per cent of Ecuador's population.

Actress Subpoenaed
By Senate Probing
Big Plane Contract

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A beautiful, platinum blonde actress and swimmer, Judy Cook, banded big names about today as she speculated on why she had been subpoenaed in the United States Senate was investigating committee's inquiry into multi-millionaire Howard Hughes' $20,000,000 contract for a flying boat.

Miss Cook said she entertained at three parties at Hughes' Beverly Hills estate.

"One was given in honor of Elliott Roosevelt and Faye Emerson, just before their marriage," she told reporters.

"At other parties I recognized Secretary of the Interior Krug, Jack Frye, senators and congressmen and a lot of army brass."

Frye, former president of T.W.A., which Hughes controls, flew Roosevelt and Miss Emerson to Grand Canyon on their honeymoon in 1944.

"The parties cost a lot of money, I guess, but nobody talked about business—at least not in front of me. I'm sure I don't know what they want to question me about."

New 'Fringeland'

Plan For 8 Cities

TORONTO (CP) — A large-scale real estate and building program to "reshape" eight Canadian cities, including Winnipeg, by developing "fringeland" or suburban areas, is under way, the Financial Post says in its current issue.

The project is a co-operative venture between the federal government and a number of insurance firms and investment houses.

5 U.S. Navy Fliers
Killed In Crash

SEATTLE (AP)—Five United States naval aviators attached to the fleet air wing at Whidbey Island, Wash., were killed Tuesday night when a four-motored PB4Y plane crashed while making a landing, authorities of fleet air wing No. 4 announced today.

The plane caught fire after crashing, but the bodies of the two officers and three enlisted men aboard were recovered. The cause of the crash has not yet been determined.

"The weather was so clear that it did not figure as a probable cause," a navy spokesman said.

ORTHODOXY AHEAD

IN THE ABSENCE OF FURTHER INDICATION from the Alberta government how it proposes to raise the funds to finance its plan of pensions for unemployed, it would appear that today's judgment by the Privy Council has effectively brought the whole ambitious program to an end. The highest court of appeal in the British Commonwealth has ruled that the neighboring province's act which sought to place exclusive control of credit in the hands of the provincial government is ultra vires of the Legislature's powers. With its mainstay gone, the pension plan, at any rate in its present form and concept, must remain in the realm of economic dreams.

There has been little criticism in Alberta of the Social Credit regime which took over the government in 1935 under the leadership of "Bible Bill" Aberhart. It has given the province in general a good liberal administration, and it has been only when it periodically revived and attempted to implement its unique economic theories that it has roused public opinion to protest. Still fresh in mind are the protracted negotiations precipitated by cancellation of its provincial debt and the suits and agreements which finally resulted in a legal refunding program two years ago. Today's Privy Council action has brought to a close another long and involved legal battle, again with orthodox economic principles triumphant.

These events should by now have convinced all but the most die-hard Social Crediters that their theories are not for the existing world of accepted business practices. Beyond doubt, in keeping with the promises through which they were elected, the party councils will continue to seek further ways and means by which they may put their doctrines into effect. But there can be little doubt that the more practical of the Social Credit leaders, with a 12-year experience of day-to-day government behind them, will by now have left the radical economic schemes to their more enthusiastic followers, and will continue to administer the affairs of the province along the accepted lines.

A LESSON FROM TUNA

THE CONFIDENCE WITH WHICH MR. J. K. Homer, who landed the season's first tuna haul here yesterday, anticipates substantial returns from future efforts on the fishing grounds gives some indication of the importance of this recently established branch of a vital provincial industry. In approximately four years, tuna has become a major catch for those commercial interests which cover the blue-water in quest of a food fish of exceptional value. Now, with modern boats and up-to-date gear, the fishermen can—subject, of course, to the element of chance in their vocation—count on a substantial harvest of this variety at a time usually considered a slack period in the ordinary season.

The importance of this development to British Columbia's fishing industry needs no elaboration. It does, however, suggest a course which might be followed with profit in other fields. Science, imagination and initiative have added tuna to the sources of wealth from which those who reap the harvests of the sea benefit. The application of these same tools of progress to other industries could be equally productive. Experience in the Scandinavian countries, for instance, suggests extensions in the use of what is now timber waste in British Columbia. Similar points could possibly be made in relation to other basic activities on which this province's economy depends. To provide security and continuous employment for the increasing number of settlers coming to B.C., all avenues should be explored.

UNDUE CONCERN

OUR MORNING CONTEMPORARY IS still feeling fidgety about the return of the money obtained for defence purposes by way of "compulsory savings" during the war, and its concern would seem to have reached a point beyond that of merely academic interest. As we have pointed out on previous occasions, the federal government has promised that repayments will start in 1948. And since the amounts in the case of most individuals were small and for all practical purposes written off household budgets long ago, there is no hardship entailed in this waiting until the Dominion—which means the taxpayers of Canada—is in a more favorable position to return the loan.

To say that the money was collected in the first instance "with a celerity the public would like to see repeated in connection with the refunds" is to display a shortness of memory and a paucity of insight. Forgotten, apparently, is the fact that our country was engaged in a life-and-death struggle at the time the loans were collected; and that the federal government would have had every justification merely to raise the tax rate rather than to soften the individual burden by arranging to repay some of the levy.

In the very obvious absence of any constructive Progressive Conservative policy on national affairs, and the equally apparent lack of well-founded criticism of Liberal government actions, we suspect supporters of Mr. Bracken's moribund organization have been driven to resort to the petty niggling reflected by the comment to which we have referred. In any event, it may serve to divert public attention, even fleetingly, from recent "unpleasant" doings in the Halifax by-election.

SHE DID WELL

EVIDENTLY THE PROVINCIAL CONSTITUENCY of Huntingdon in Quebec is not ready to be represented in the Legislature by a woman—especially one who subscribes to the Liberal philosophy as exemplified by former Premier Adélard Godbout. In yesterday's by-election, a straight fight between a candidate of the official Opposition and a supporter of Mr. Duplessis' Union Nationale administration, the widow of the late Liberal member finished with 2,677 votes against 3,403 recorded for the victor—a government majority of 726.

Doubtless numerous essentially provincial factors, mainly those which have considerable bearing on Mr. Duplessis' attitude toward the rest of Canada in general and toward the King administration in particular, were responsible for the defeat of Mrs. Mae O'Connor—who campaigned under the banner of the leader of the Opposition in the Legislature, whose progressivism in the Ancient Province obtained women's rightful status. But the electors of Huntingdon have spoken. Those women who pioneered for the franchise may take the result as a clarion call. This was a woman's first attempt in Quebec to serve her province in its legislative halls. She did well under the circumstances.

INVITATION TO RUSSIA

SPORTSMEN THE WORLD OVER WILL watch with interest developments in Moscow, to which city Lord David Burghley, at one time world-renowned hurdler and now president of the International Amateur Athletic Federation, has gone with authority to bring Russia into the association and thus permit entry of her athletes in next year's Olympic Games in London. According to the distinguished Briton, only routine moves stand between the Soviet Union and participation of her representatives in the revived quadrennial meet.

What those "routine moves" are is not specified. The I.A.A.F. has been extremely zealous in protecting its definition of an amateur. Issue has already been raised over the question of subsidized athletes. In Russia, the technique of protecting the formal amateur status has not been refined to the point achieved in other countries, in many of which the "play-for-pay" motive has been carefully cloaked. What reconciliation may be effected herein remains to be seen.

On another point interest will be deep. Olympiads, like any other assembly of various peoples, are not conducted without differences. Some shallower critics have considered the disruptive influences of these squabbles more disastrous than the Games are beneficial. That, to our mind, is a weak submission. At the same time, in view of the Russian proclivity for stirring discord, we are forced to wonder what incidents may arise if the "routine moves" of which Lord Burghley spoke are made and the Soviets actually participate in the meet at London. The query is raised without cynicism. It is made merely to remind the more acidulously critical that breaches of friendship have occurred in previous Olympic Games without seriously detracting from their overall benefit.

VETO ON THE SAUCERS

THE "FLYING SAUCERS" HAVE GONE the way of all such phenomena—ogopog, invasions from Mars, Loch Ness monsters, or what have you—skimming over the horizon into the limbo of mid-summer memories. Many were the theories proposed. Serious, scientific, cynical or flippant, they attempted to explain to the many what the few had seen so much of. From them all, we recall with most pleasure two which were suggested by Mr. Gromyko, the Soviet representative on the United Nations Security Council—both of which he himself promptly vetoed.

The Russian delegate noted that some sources attributed the whizzing phenomena to the heavy importation of Scotch whisky into the United States, but he as quickly discounted this. He then advanced the suggestion that they were the result of a "Russian discus thrower training for the Olympic Games who does not realize his own strength." This idea, too, he modestly vetoed, leaving the mystery as deep as ever. We feel that in view of the variety of objects sworn to by hosts of observers—ranging from shining bottle caps to balls of fire the size of houses, and performing every motion from "gentle undulation" to streaking at a speed of 1,200 miles an hour—either of the suggestions mentioned by the Soviet spokesman is as good as any we have come across. We could only add our wish that Mr. Gromyko would show the same pleasantness and willingness to co-operate in international problems as he did in offering a comment on the recent heavenly visitations—which confronted us with no less a mystery than that which is so often posed by Soviet international diplomacy.

NOTES

It isn't humility that makes people say, "Just pay me what you think right." They think your conscience will make you be generous.

Time To Be Firm

By LORD VANSITTART
Former Chief Diplomatic Adviser to the Foreign Secretary of Britain.

THE TIME IS LONG overdue not only for firm speaking but for firm action towards the Soviet government, who for the past two years have been plunging ever deeper into ways fraught with danger to the world and to themselves.

We have fought two wars for freedom, and the Kremlin is rapidly depriving Europe of it. Why?

In the first place we must remember that Soviet Russia is a totalitarian state. So also were Fascist Italy and Nazi Germany. Between the three dictatorships there were, of course, differences, but they all had this in common: They were all Police States. That means, as I said in the House of Lords, that "nobody can think or speak or breathe except to order." It also means, as Mr. Bevin said in the House of Commons, that whenever a country is ruled and terrorized by Secret Police, "there is no democracy, you are not within miles of it."

NOW ALL TOTALITARIAN states are expansive. They want to dominate or swallow their neighbors, and—since "appetite comes with eating"—they are inevitably drawn into the desire of world-rule. In this respect there is now, unhappily, little difference, except in technique, between the foreign policy of Moscow and the former policy of Berlin.

This is a thousand pities. We had hoped for better things when we were getting rid of Hitler together. But we must not forget that the war came about partly because Stalin got together with Hitler in 1939 before Hitler made him get together with us in 1941. Matters have now come to a pass when we must all calmly ponder why Communist Russia and Nazi Germany agreed so startlingly.

For two years the Soviet Police State supported the Nazi Police State. But the two totalitarians were rivals; and ultimately one wanted all the power, and attacked the other. With our help Soviet Russia survived and won. We hoped that she had learned her lesson.

ALAS, THE KREMLIN has learned nothing; so that, having beaten Germany, it has taken over Germany's foreign policy of expansion. It pledged itself by the Atlantic Charter and by the Anglo-Soviet Alliance of 1942 to renounce territorial expansion and the imposition on the weak of governments that they did not desire. All these undertakings the Kremlin has broken.

Russia has annexed not only half Poland and the three Baltic States, but Bessarabia, Bukovina, Ruthenia, parts of Finland and of Germany, too. She has absorbed in a different form the rest of Poland, Bulgaria, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Albania, and is trying to absorb Greece, Turkey, Hungary, Austria and Czechoslovakia are in danger. In France and Italy as well the position is precarious.

Why should poor old Europe still be in this turmoil? Because the Kremlin is obsessed by expansion—not peace, goodwill, co-operation, only greatness. Everyone should by now have outgrown these primitive desires. We hoped the Kremlin would grow up, and so we were patient for years. Now we can give in no further; the consequences will be too fatal to everybody—including the Russians themselves.

THE COMMUNISTS in Eastern Europe are destroying not only all parties of the Right or Centre; they are also wiping out all the genuine parties of the Left; the Polish, and Bulgarian Socialists are the latest example. Ostensibly some stooge parties may be left, but in reality there would be only one effective party in Europe. The recent excesses in Hungary are a plain warning of what is intended—the obliteration or forcible transformation of any possible opposition.

Can we halt a disastrous process, which mocks all those who, in two world wars, died for human freedom? Yes, but we must be firm, however friendly; for there is a warning parallel. In 1936 the Germans remilitarized the forbidden zone on the Rhine, and drew an iron curtain across Europe. We could not reach our friends and adherents, who were swallowed one after the other. The Russians are doing the same thing; their iron curtain—it is useless to deny its existence—is moving steadily westward. We could have held back that curtain in 1936. We can even now do so, if we have the forthrightness which we then lacked.

WE MUST HAVE a clarification with the Soviet government. Unhappily it has hitherto overridden every undertaking that it has signed. In this again totalitarian states are alike: To them the end always justifies the means. In the process the Anglo-Soviet Treaty has been reduced to a mockery. When we reasonably ask for the fulfilment of our treaty rights, all we get is a volley of abuse. This cannot continue.

We must now ask the Kremlin to choose between the Alliance and its present course of conduct. If it still wants the former—as we do—it must not only abandon but reverse the latter. What the Kremlin is now doing is dangerously akin to Nazism, the very evil which we all fought to abolish. If Molotov continues defiant the issue must go to the United Nations, when other courses will have to be considered.

TO BLINK THE TRUTH again is suicide. I foresaw what was coming from Germany, and said firmly could avoid calamity. That is still true.

Of Mice And Women

The Times of London

THE account of a road accident which appeared in these columns recently re-opened, in a form rather more spectacular than usual, one of the great unsolved mysteries of natural history. A lady, a member of the Women's Land Army, was driving a van when her two companions reported the presence of a mouse on board the vehicle. The lady had recourse to an expedient once popular, or at any rate prevalent, in Russia, where small infants or old retainers of a preternatural fidelity were jettisoned from the swiftly moving sleigh in order to divert and delay the pursuing wolf-pack. Without stopping, she opened the door and the mouse debussed. But, alas, the lady, on seeing the mouse, fainted, the now driverless van left the highway and overturned, and in the course of time a fine was imposed for careless driving.

Many men, reading of this curious and sad mishap, will have pondered, not for the first time, on the (to their way of thinking) unnecessarily bad relations which exist, and seem always to have existed, between ladies and mice. It is perhaps understandable that, in the vaporous and unemancipated days of crinolines, the appearance of a mouse was enough to spread stark panic in a boudoir, causing its occupants to spring up on ottomans, to utter piercing cries and—at a pinch—to swoon. But surely, the modern girl is made of sterner stuff? On every other front the gentler sex have advanced the standards of their courage and their common sense until now there is scarcely a hazard or a horror left which ladies have not faced on the same cool terms as men. They shoot tigers, pilot flying machines, swim the Channel, discharge anti-aircraft guns, parachute into enemy territory, and make maiden speeches in Parliament. They are dauntless and imperturbable, resourceful and tough and quick on the draw. Yet they still have this extraordinary feeling about mice.

NOT SAVAGE

The more one ponders this matter, the odder it appears. The mouse is not a savage animal. His appearance is engaging rather than horrific. His cry is neither loud, harsh, nor eerie. With the exception of his cousin the shrew, he is of all our wild animals the smallest; if it came to a showdown, and either party launched an attack on the other, the mouse would be giving away anything from eight stone up to wards to his most sylph-like opponent, and even if he were a rogue mouse, half-crazed by some primeval paranoia, he could hardly hope to get the better of a creature some 200 times his own size and quite possibly his superior in intelligence.

We shall probably never know to what obscure cause the mouse owes his ludicrous but enviable ascendancy over women. Both parties have inhabited the same planet for thousands of years; they have had ample time to get to know each other, to size each other up. The mouse has witnessed a steady improvement in what it is now practically obligatory to call the overall position of his adversary. Gone is the feather-headed, cumbrously skirted creature whom he chased round the spacious apartments of an earlier age; today he faces a highly educated and often athletic Amazon on a battlefield which no longer offers him, should withdrawal become necessary, a network of previously prepared positions.

NO STRATEGIC GAINS

No corresponding strategic advantages have accrued to the mouse. His glamour, his prestige, his standards of education have remained as constant and as negligible as the length of his whiskers; he has not even been taught to play hockey. Yet he remains game, indomitable, almost jaunty; an elusive, debonair guerrillero conducting a war of nerves. Like the man-eater who has once tasted human flesh, he cannot deny himself the satisfaction of alarming these enormous and impressionable bipeds. He has done it for centuries, he has had a long innings; and it seems doubtful if even the most ardent feminist can point to any very convincing indication that he is not going to carry his bat.

A Frenchman Looks At The Marshall Plan

PO. LAPIE, a member of the French Chamber for Meurthe-et-Moselle and a former Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in the French government, concludes a description of favorable reactions to the Marshall Plan, with the following observations, specifically concerning the United States and the U.S.S.R.:

The young, vigorous, optimistic American nation is accustomed to loudly proclaimed economic ventures, followed by radical reverses. Perhaps the U.S.A. has the strength to stand these changes of direction. But an economy like that of Europe, already old, and exhausted by the war, would not withstand them. It would be precipitating the end of Europe to promise the remedy, to adopt the super-plan, then allow it to fall through. That must be well understood. We are working on a long project. We hope that neither our life nor our hope will be lost, and that the U.S.A. will persevere, and for a long time, in its application of the proposal thus made.

IT GOES BEYOND

The second observation is this: Since the end of the war we have heard talk of western Europe, of a European Federation, particularly the Churchill proposal, Soviet plans for a Danubian Federation, the Truman speech on aid to Greece and Turkey. The chief interest of the Marshall plan is that it goes beyond all these ideas, all these plans and all these attempts.

The Truman speech, made at the beginning of the Moscow conference, had a defensive character that was almost military and, in its clarity, a certain aggressiveness against some of the policies, diplomacy and institutions of eastern Europe. The Marshall speech is placed on a strictly economic, materialistic plane and is in line with the Atlantic Charter.

RUSSIAN SUSPICIONS

Any idea of a western European Federation, arouses the suspicions of the Russians, and, we should be careful to note, of all the peoples of central and eastern Europe, even that section of opinion which is not influenced by the U.S.S.R. But the Marshall proposal encompasses them all, including the U.S.S.R. itself, in the conception of Europe.

The fact remains that, diplomatically, the Marshall plan is a formal notice addressed to the U.S.S.R. to prove her will for international co-operation. The U.S.S.R. has often been accused of wanting to hamper, even though participating in, the functioning of the already delicate institutions of the peace, as witness her attitude at Bretton Woods, her stand taken at the Transportation Conference, her uncompromising attitude at the Moscow Conference. Now is the time for the U.S.S.R. to wipe out this accusation.

Even after the failure of the Paris talks Britain and France have left the door open for her to do so.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst

ANOTHER critical show-down between Russia and the western Allies is presaged by Moscow's refusal of the American invitation to join an 11-nation conference on Aug. 19 to discuss a Japanese peace treaty.

Russia charges the United States acted in a unilateral manner, and says preliminary work on the Japanese treaty should be done by the council of foreign ministers. That is to say, the Soviet Union wants to follow the same procedure as that which resulted in failure of the big four to frame a German treaty because of disagreements between Russia on the one side and America, Britain and France on the other.

Washington proposed that the Japanese treaty work be done by a veto-free parley of 11 interested nations, to be held in Washington or San Francisco. Decisions would be made by a two-thirds vote, with or without agreement by the great powers—a procedure which would be a far-reach from the European big four meetings where a veto by one power scuttled the ship. Finally there would be a general peace conference of all 48 nations which were at war with Japan.

The 11 nations which America proposed should draft the treaty all have a special interest in it. They are the United States, Britain, China, Russia, France, Canada, The Netherlands, India, Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines.

Moscow's rejection puts Washington in the position of having to decide whether to try to go ahead with a 10-nation conference which would frame a treaty without participation of one of the countries chiefly interested—Soviet Russia. We must assume that this contingency was foreseen, but it nevertheless creates a serious situation.

Letters

VETERANS' FRANCHISE

Having recently requested the City Council to make arrangements for hospitalized veterans to use their franchise, I notice in the press that Mr. Frank Hunter, our very capable city clerk, has made his report upon this subject. It is certainly very clear for anyone to understand, but the writer of this letter is not worried over the point as to how the ballot forms should be issued, or whether amendment to provincial legislation would be required. These points are for the City Council to worry about, so that everything will be put in order for the veteran who is hospitalized through wounds or sickness, and who is qualified to vote, to be given this right.

Some of these men are bed-ridden and may be so for a great length of time, and realizing they are the men who put in many months or years of hardships and dangers, fighting for the city and the country, we cannot hesitate to say everything possible must be done for them. One of the smallest of things that we can do for them is to make the necessary arrangements for them to vote.

Now it is up to the City Council to see that those who are unable, but anxious to vote, are catered for; not for this year only or next year, but for ever. Now is the time to act, before the mind becomes confused.

GIRLS' DRILL TEAM

Your editorial on July 7, captioned "Inconsistency," should be reprinted every day until all Victorians would have had it indelibly impressed upon their minds.

Ever since the Victoria Girls' Drill Team made their first appearance in the "City of Roses" it has been my pleasure and honor to serve them as their official host. (This letter, however, is not in any sense to be considered an official act of the Portland Rose Festival Association. It is my own personal expression.)

Statistics on the subject of how many people from Portland and Oregon who have visited Victoria, whether directly or indirectly because of the Victoria Girls' Drill Team, are not at hand; but one thing I can say, as someone far removed from a financial dispute, is that of all the delegations and various other participating groups from your city who have come to Portland, none have ever done a better job of creating goodwill and direct publicity for Victoria than the Victoria Girls' Drill Team. In fact, all of the others combined have not brought Victoria nearly so much favorable publicity, in print or otherwise. This you can readily prove yourselves.

Former Oarsman Dies At Vancouver

Alexander Pool, well known in Victoria rowing circles some years ago and brother of Mrs. Lester Patrick of Victoria, died Wednesday in Vancouver after an illness of several months.

A native Victorian, Mr. Pool, 70, was prominent in business circles throughout British Columbia, having been a wholesale grocery traveler up to the time of his illness. During his years in Victoria he rowed for the James Bay Athletic Association. He was also well known as an oarsman in Nelson.

He had lived in Vancouver for the past 25 years.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. R. J. McNeil of Portland and Miss Edna Pool in Vancouver; and two sisters, Miss Irvine Pool and Mrs. Lester Patrick of Victoria. Sands' Mortuary Ltd. are in charge of funeral arrangements.

Mormons In Utah Mark Centenary

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A century of Mormonism in Utah ended today.

To mark the 100th anniversary of the arrival of Brigham Young and his 148 weary followers in their second "Zion"—the Salt Lake valley—officials of the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) Church dedicated a $350,000 bronze and granite monument.

Young's famous words, spoken when he saw the valley, "This is the place," gave the giant monument its name.

The present-day head of the church, George Albert Smith, presided over dedication ceremonies, at which arrangements had been made for 50,000 spectators.

When that first band of Mormons looked across the valley, described by Young as one he had seen in a vision, only sage brush and salt-encrusted deserts stretched between them and Great Salt Lake, 25 miles away. Today the valley is filled with trees sheltering this city of 180,000, capital of Utah and Mormonism's 1,000,000 members.

Brigham Young's two living daughters, Mrs. Fannie Y. Clayton and Mrs. Mabel Y. Sanborn, were present at the ceremonies.

The monument's central shaft is topped by heroic bronze figures of Young and his counselors, Heber C. Kimball and Wilford Woodruff. It is 80 feet high.

Teacher Crosses B.C. On Horseback In 18 Days

VANCOUVER (CP)—Did you know you can cross British Columbia by horseback in 18 days? A McBride, B.C., school principal, W. H. Gray, had planned to make the trek for many years, so almost three weeks ago he set out along the Yellowstone Pass highway and later the No. 9 Highway to Kamloops.

The trip was made with two horses. The chief difficulty, said Mr. Gray, a teacher of science and mathematics, was the securing of feed for the horses.

One mishap only was incurred in the trip. The 54-year-old pedagogue was bucked from his mount and broke his glasses. However, he was able to go on another 22 miles.

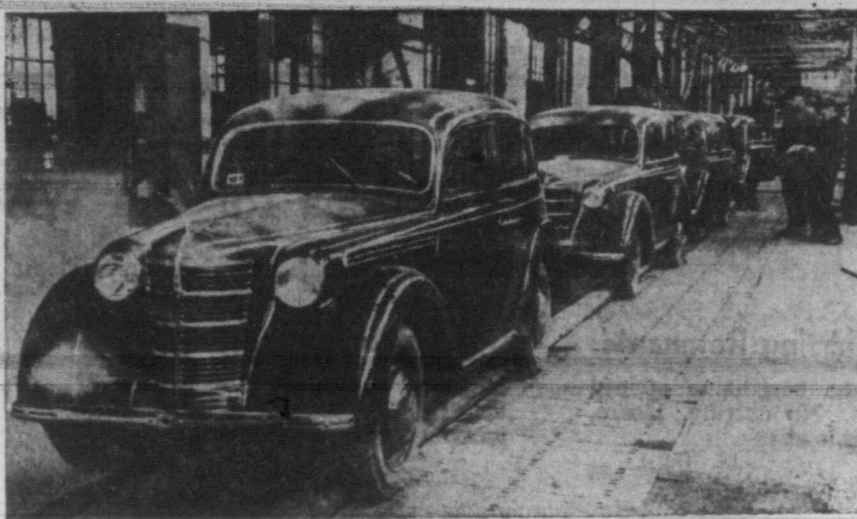

Mr. Gray's plans for returning are not to get on a train. He is going to go back the same way he came on horseback.

Jubilee Patients Learn Handicrafts

Mrs. U. S. Wilkinson, shown standing in the background, helps a convalescing patient at Jubilee Hospital with tooled leather work. Others in the little group are working at shell jewelry work, weaving and embroidering.

This is part of a new program of occupational therapy started in March at Jubilee Hospital under the auspices of the Junior Women's Auxiliary, who have donated the funds to employ Mrs. Wilkinson on a half-time basis. It is the first time there has been a full-time therapy department at the hospital, Dr. Morley Beckett, superintendent, said.

At the present time the department is working on a very small scale with little equipment, Mrs. Wilkinson explained, but it is hoped to expand as the patients become more interested in the different hobby-crafts. She said therapy work is found to be of particular value for patients suffering from chronic ailments, nervous disorders, or who face a long convalescence from illness or accident. Mrs. Wilkinson said the stimulation of the handicraft work often helped recovery, and she had noted that once a patient started the work, others immediately became interested.

In the case of arthritic patients the handiwork often helped the malady, she said. Most popular handicraft at the moment is the making of shell jewelry. Other crafts taught are glove-making, knitting, weaving, embroidery, and tooled leather work.

Even short-term patients are picking up some of the crafts, Mrs. Wilkinson reported, and taking their newly-learned skills home with them, often helping them with rehabilitation after they leave hospital. She told of one lady who came to Jubilee Hospital from a farm in the interior of B.C. suffering from asthma. During her weeks in hospital she learned glove-making, shell work, and leather tooling, picking up as many skills as possible.

She planned, Mrs. Wilkinson said, to teach the children the hobbies to occupy their time during the long winter evenings. "We could do little for her asthma condition," she related, "but she left the hospital a much happier woman than when she came in."

Mrs. Wilkinson is a graduate of the Vancouver School of Arts, finishing school during the depression. After being unemployed for two years, she started teaching children at the school for the deaf and blind in Vancouver. She also did occupational therapy work with T.B. patients at Vancouver General Hospital, and at the military hospital at Harrison Hot Springs.

A year ago March she came to Victoria and gave handicraft classes to veterans, and also worked at the Y.W.C.A. with girls' classes, teaching tooled leather work.

Washington Visitor Conducted Musical Nursery

Mrs. D. L. MacFarlane, with her sons, Drew, age four, and Donald, two, are summer guests of Mrs. MacFarlane's mother, Mrs. E. M. Straight, 2060 Beach Drive. In September, Mrs. MacFarlane, with her sons, will join her husband, who has accepted an appointment at McGill University as professor of economics, after serving for several years with Unrra.

"Music can be used as a tool to aid children in social and physical problems," states Mrs. D. L. MacFarlane, Mus.Bac., who conducted a unique musical nursery school at her home in Washington, D.C.

Mrs. MacFarlane formerly taught music to children and adults. Then she became interested in young children unable to attend nursery schools because of special problems.

"Some of my little pupils were stricken with physical sickness such as polio, while others had social problems, shyness and awkwardness to overcome," she states.

The school was run along the lines of the average nursery school, with music as the main theme.

"The children sing 'good morning' and 'goodbye,' they have a rhythm band, and are told musical stories. They are encouraged in creative work and make up many of their own songs."

"There is no such thing as a child who can't sing," she states, "although some children need more time than others to develop their singing voices. Each child is taught individually and in groups, with never more than nine children at once."

Working on the theory that music frees the child from inhibitions, Mrs. MacFarlane states the nursery school aims can be accomplished easier and more rapidly through its use.

This gracious woman with enthusiasm sparkling in her grey-blue eyes, is well fitted for the work she has undertaken. She has worked with Dr. William van de Wall in Kentucky in the Carnegie Community Music Project on the social value of music. She holds a masters degree in sociology as well as music degrees from Toronto and London, England.

Besides her teaching and preparation for her musical nursery school, Mrs. MacFarlane finds time to carry out her role as housewife and mother competently.

Mrs. MacFarlane addressed a public meeting Wednesday evening at the Little Centre, sponsored by the Nursery School Association of Victoria, in which she discussed experiments conducted in her musical school and outlined its philosophy.

GIRL BEMOANING MARITAL DUTIES ADVISED TO MAKE BEST OF IT

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 21. Have been married 17 months and have a baby. Ever since I have been married I have hated staying at home with my husband and doing the housework and cooking. I have single girl friends who work and have their evenings off and can go about to places of amusement, and I envy them very much.

My husband tries hard to make me happy, but we don't like the same things and we go out very seldom. How long does it take a girl to settle down and enjoy being married and just a housewife and mother? So far it has done nothing but bore me.

AN UNHAPPY WIFE.

Answer: You should have thought of all of that before your wedding. You were perfectly aware that only the girls who marry rich men live lives of ease and luxury and spend their time in going to places of amusement and adorning themselves in fine clothes. You knew that the poor man's wife has to do her own cooking and sewing and baby-tending, and can do precious little stepping out. It is dillies and bottles for her, not night clubs and champagne.

So don't you think that you are giving your husband a pretty raw deal when you complain of the lot that you chose yourself, and that you are showing yourself to be a rotten sport when, instead of going about your work cheerfully, you grouse over having to do it? My earnest advice to you is to quit whining over your lot and to gather up all the courage and philosophy you can summon and make the best of it.

MAKE BEST OF IT

You have a fine husband, a baby and a home. Try to find your pleasure in them, instead of lamenting that you can't step out to night clubs. Quit going out with girls who keep you upset because they are having gay times that you are missing. Learn to be a good cook and you will find it an interesting occupation, instead of a bore. Our lives are what we make them. Make yours worthwhile.

Summer Fur Styles Feature Smart Capes

NEW YORK—To summer fur styles, the cape adds Victorian charm, 1947 dash and the virtue of being easy to wear.

One big reason for the cape's come-back, furriers say, is its adaptability to almost every costume need. Another is its brevity. Wearing a cape, no woman runs the risk of looking too befurred, even on a late mid-summer day.

Cape fashions which incorporate bolero, stole and jacket styles have gone as far from their furbriquet forebears as today's smart fashioning of pelts can take them.

Both American and Indian broadtail lend smooth finishes, soft honey colors and fabric-like suppleness to the styling of many jackets. These combine the dash of the cape with the added advantage of a jacket. One high-style cutaway of tawny Indian broadtail even takes some of the cape's attractions for its own. These are elbow-length, cape-styled sleeves.

Mutation minks make many of this summer's lavish-looking dream-piece capes. Silver-blue mink, for example, is used to make a cape-stole with a six-ripple flare, with long intricately-cut scalloped fronts that sweep almost to the hemline.

For the little woman who doesn't want to be dwarfed by an all-enveloping wrap, there is the bolero-styled cape. Blue-frost mink makes this one which begins as a shoulder cape, winds up as a weskit-like front, and sports patch pockets that can be pulled up to make a muff.

Social Situations

The situation: You take a gift to a new baby when you visit the mother in the hospital.

Wrong way: Feel that since you are taking the gift with you you need not enclose a card.

Right way: Enclose a card, since many mothers save gift cards for their baby books.

Summer Show—At a meeting of Langford Women's Institute, Tuesday at the home of Mrs. J. E. Macdonald, 991 Island Highway, Langford Lake, Mrs. P. N. Welch, convener for the summer show at the Community Fair to be held Aug. 5 and 6, told members that exhibits could be left in the new community hall on the afternoon of Aug. 5 or Aug. 6, before 9 a.m. Committee appointed for placing exhibits are: Flowers, Miss L. M. Savory; fruit and vegetables, Mrs. M. Stewart; bottled fruit and vegetables, Mrs. H. M. McKenzie; home cooking, Mrs. G. McGregor; children's exhibit, Mesdames L. Horner and R. Franklin. Mrs. A. M. Foulds, of the B.C. Electric School, will judge cooking contest in charge of Mrs. H. A. Hincks. A handicraft display will be shown and the local association of Brownies will sponsor a miscellaneous stall. Mrs. W. J. Stevens was welcomed as a new member. Secretary, Mrs. F. S. Staverman, gave particulars of the South Vancouver Island Women's Institute picnic at the Experimental Farm Aug. 23.

Shades Of Summer

A bright yellow suit dress piped in white is worn by NBC actress Nancy Gates. The washable two-piece is a smart addition to any summer wardrobe and priced for slim budgets. The white felt cloche is prettily feminine with touches of yellow and white flowers and lime yellow veiling.

In Step With Style

Important—One of the most important parts of looking smart is wearing what's becoming. In makeup you can afford to be individual. If the very latest color fashion doesn't suit you, hunt for the shade that does. Choose makeup by the fast rule that it must tone first with your skin and second with your clothes. This goes for foundation, powder and lipstick.

Switch About—To go with a navy suit in a Regency cut-away design, NBC's Margaret Whiting switches accessories which are easy to duplicate in any budget range. For her basic suit Margaret favors these changes: A sugar white milan sailor, white gloves and crisp white scarf and flowers; a red felt bowler, vivid red, yellow and navy print scarf and chamois gloves; a broad-brimmed toast-colored straw, with matching blouse and elongated pigskin bag, and an all-navy, monotone ensemble with sheer blouse for very dressy occasions.

Teen-time—For the teen-agers in checked wool which go so well with pleated skirts. Double-breasted jackets, buttoning high under big Peter Pan collars, look extremely smart with neatly tailored slacks for informal occasions.

Suit-dress—The suit-dress in its latest forms is incomparable for wear in practically any setting—city, country, seaside, business office. It's as cool as a cotton dress because it is a cotton dress. It's as trim and town-like as a suit, because it has the lines of a suit.

Color Notes—Colors prominent this season noted around NBC's Hollywood Studios include glass green, sand beige, Empire yellow, deep claret brown.

New Emphasis—Balancing the downward trek of skirts, autumn millinery will require a wider, fuller contour which designers are concentrating in puffed, larger crowns and taking emphasis away from brims.

Fall Preview—Large collars are staging a comeback this fall to give a top line interest to accepted narrower, padded shoulders. Throat-hugging, high-rising Byron collar with its deep tapering tabs bids to revive wearing a narrow ribbon or colorful string tie accompaniment. Collars with slightly shorter but wider points roll the tabs back in cornucopia style, fastening the tip with buttons or invisible stitching.

Fashion Trends—Ability to interpret the trends of ever-changing fashion in terms of individual becomingness requires brutally frank self-analysis. Very few women are so well-proportioned that every new change or innovation can be accepted in the form of its original introduction. Take care in selection of new styles, and make certain they conform to your own measurements.

Fall Wardrobe—What do you need to get your wardrobe set for fall? Not everything new, of course. But perhaps you have to replace one or two of four essentials—coat, suit, basic dress and afternoon dress. No matter what you need, remember that your coat is queen of the fall closet. If you're buying a new one, don't get a color that screams at your perfectly good crepe dress or is too tight to slip over the suit that you got just a few months ago. And if you have a good coat, don't forget it while you shop for suit, dress or accessories.

Sheer Allure In Summer Blouses

NEW YORK — Blouse allure comes back with the return of sheer cottons.

Absent during the war, silky-soft batiste, hand-loomed novelty cottons and organdies, sheer enough to read fine print through, spark more feminine blouse styles.

Lace ruffles, Elizabethan ruffs, flyaway neck bows, ribbon-run heading and sleeves as puffy as clouds leave no doubt as to what designers are up to. Daytime and evening fashions have in common the eye-catching appeal of breath-catching daintiness.

For sheer charm, there is the dinner blouse, for example, of crystal clear white organdie made more glamorous by paint brush and sequin embroidery. Sleeves and collar are delicately brushed in black. Hand-painted butterfly motifs are spotlighted by sequin embroidery. Sheerest organdie—patterned with delicate shadow print, does its turn for the daytime blouse. Delicate white-on-white print is pointed up by a lace-ruffled collar and ballooning sleeves edged with lace.

Dental Officer On Air Tour Of Mackenzie Area

Capt. J. W. Turner, formerly of H.M.C.S. Naden, is listed among the members of a field team which left Edmonton last week to treat army, air force and some civilians located in isolated outposts in the Mackenzie River area, Northwest Canada.

The party left by air to visit 16 northern communities where northland R.C.C.S. non-commissioned officers and men are stationed. This annual visit to stations of the Northwest Territories and Yukon radio system by the medical men will benefit servicemen in such places as Fort Smith, Yellowknife, Norman Wells, Radium, and as far north as Akavik.

Capt. Turner, assisted by Sgt. H. R. Enders of Edmonton, is carrying a complete field dental kit on the 3,000-mile air journey. With this equipment, the two dental men will be able to meet any dental requirement.

New Turn In Working Of Loan Criticized

LONDON (Reuter)—The Daily Express, continuing its criticism of the British-U.S. loan agreement, today said editorially that a "divided empire" has been achieved because of new developments concerning the loan.

"The Americans have now conceded that we may purchase goods from our colonies even if we cannot afford to buy the same kind of goods in the United States," said the Express.

"But this concession does not extend to the Dominions.

"The consequence is that the colonies are put in one category and the Dominions in another, so far as Britain's trade is concerned. And this is exactly what the enemies of the Empire have striven long and, until now, vainly to accomplish.

"Moreover... Britain may discriminate in favor of European countries which have suffered in the war.

"The dangerous position may arise where we shall actually have to treat our own blood brothers in the Dominions worse than we treat foreigners dwelling in Europe."

Honored At 24 For 12 Years' Service

It is believed Sgt. W. R. Bone, 1840 Kings Road, a member of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, is the youngest man ever to hold the Efficiency Medal for 12 years' service. Sgt. Bone is just 24 years old.

He began his military career at the age of 12 when he joined the 11th Air Cadet Squadron, Vancouver, the first air cadet group in the Dominion. He remained an air cadet until 1940 when he enlisted with the 2nd Battalion, B.C. Regiment, (D.C.O.R.). The following year, at 18, he went overseas with the Lord Strathcona Horse.

He served during the war in England, Italy and Holland with the 8th New Brunswick Hussars. On his return to British Columbia he joined the Canadian Scottish.

Sgt. Bone has just completed his second year of studies at Victoria College and intends to proceed to the University of B.C. where he will major in economics.

Bracken Says Budget Raises Living Costs

OTTAWA (CP)—John Bracken, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, said Wednesday night the 1947 budget "has resulted in raising the cost of living for us all, and in perpetuating all the indirect taxes on the poor as well as on the rich."

In an address over a national network on the CBC's free-time political series, Mr. Bracken said that "in the case of more than half of those who pay income tax, the cost of living has already increased more than the total tax reduction proposed for this year."

"To the great mass of people who do not pay income tax, there has been no relief whatever," he stated. "Taxation today is 300 per cent higher than it was before the war."

Mr. Bracken said his party is in favor of Senate reform, with the period of office set for a specific term of years, and proposed "that consideration should be given to having some senators chosen by the provinces instead of all being political appointments of a Dominion party leader."

Royal Party Cheered As Fleet Visit Ends

ABOARD H.M.S. VENGEANCE—Cheers of sailors and civilians mingled over the grey Clyde Wednesday as the Royal family passed through lines of the Home Fleet after a two-day inspection.

As the King was carried past in a motor torpedo boat with the Queen, the Princess and Lieut. Philip Mountbatten, fiancé of Princess Elizabeth, seamen lining the ship's rails raised "hats-off" cheers and pleasure craft laden with sightseers darted among the warships, laden to the gunwales with shouting spectators. The King repeatedly raised his hand to the peak of his admiral's cap, while the Queen beside him beamed and waved her hand.

The Royal family's last engagement with the fleet was a concert last night aboard the aircraft carrier Illustrious. Today the party visited the Isle of Arran for lunch with the Duke of Montrose.

Another Alberta Bill Ruled Out

LONDON (CP)—Alberta's pension plan for unemployed residents of the province today was ruled ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature by the Privy Council here.

The bill, passed through the predominantly Social Credit Legislature, had been ruled ultra vires by the Supreme Court of Alberta last fall.

Today's Privy Council judgment, handed down by the law lords after a three-day hearing last month on section 2 of the bill, found that section was ultra vires. The section would have permitted the provincial government to control credit in the province.

The Privy Council said that having regard to the relationship between this section and the rest of the act, "the act as a whole cannot be regarded as valid."

Viscount Simon, in handing down the judgment of the Judicial Committee, said the clear intent and purpose of the act as a whole "is to establish machinery sufficiently complete in itself to secure that in accordance with the economic concept of Social Credit it will severely restrict chartered banks from continuing to carry on a legitimate part of their present operations."

"When part two is cut out, what is left?" Lord Simon asked.

He added that while part one stated that Alberta citizens were entitled to a social security pension (amounting to $600 yearly), "these declarations remain mere aspirations unless part two operates to provide how this is to be done."

NO COMMENT

EDMONTON (CP)—The office of Acting Premier W. A. Fallow of Alberta said today there was no comment on the decision of the Privy Council handed down in London today.

Mr. Fallow was attending a cabinet meeting and left word not to be disturbed. His secretary said he had not seen the decision yet.

Premier E. C. Manning is at present vacationing in British Columbia.

CHEAP LUMBER

Cheap lumber at less than the price of wood. This lumber cannot be sold commercially at the sawmills because of being offsize, too much bark, splits, checks or pitch streaks, but hundreds of loads are being sold, and pieces picked out to repair barns, sidewalks, fences and garden stakes. Even if all this lumber were cut into wood it would be cheaper inside wood and a load will make about 1 1/2 cords. Especially handy for people who live outside of town and find it hard to get wood. This lumber is in 1, 2, 3 and 4-inch boards and planks and timbers up to 30 feet long.

The DOCTOR Says:

ALCOHOLICS NEED SPECIAL TREATMENT

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Treatment of delirium tremens, which results from excessive indulgence in alcohol, is a life-saving emergency. Unless proper treatment is given promptly, death may result.

The acute effects of alcohol on the nervous system tend to disappear when drinking is stopped. As patient needs help during this critical period, hospital care and good nursing are important. In the past many hospitals did not admit alcoholics, but more of them are doing so now as they appreciate that alcoholism is an illness.

In delirium tremens treatment, alcohol should be stopped at once as gradual withdrawal is not advisable. Drugs are given to produce sleep and to relax the patient while this is done. Many of them are so afraid of the things they see and hear that they may try to do something desperate in order to escape.

Injections of glucose and insulin may be life-saving. Patients usually have not been eating for some time, and the body is in a dangerous state. As the patient quiets down, salt-water can be injected by vein to correct the dehydration. Thiamin chloride and nicotinic acid are given in large doses to correct the deficiency state which results from starvation.

DISCHARGED TOO SOON

Patients with delirium tremens should be kept in a warm bed in a quiet place. The room should either be brightly lighted or in total darkness in order to avoid shadows as they may cause serious alarm. Attendants should be kind, sympathetic, and understanding, since patients experience great remorse when recovery begins.

Patients with delirium tremens usually are discharged from the hospital too soon. Most patients who fall down again are those who have not been given sufficient time to recover. If patients are kept in a little longer, this will give them an opportunity to be visited by Alcoholics Anonymous representatives who will help them after they leave.

QUESTION—Which foods are suitable for a person with epilepsy in a rundown condition?

ANSWER—Foods suitable for anyone underweight can be given to an epileptic patient. One variety of epilepsy seems to improve when the patient is given a diet which contains an excess of fat.

COMETS OFFER LITTLE DANGER TO THE HUMAN RACE

Is the earth in any danger from comets?

The answer to that question is, "Very little, if any."

For thousands of years people have been watching comets come and go. Often they have felt great fear of these visitors from space, but never has anyone been known to be hurt by one of them.

Scientists say that our earth has been going around the sun for at least 3,000,000,000 years. If that is true, how many comets have come and gone in that time! There must have been countless thousands of visits from comets before the human race lived on earth.

If we judged by the size of a comet, we might feel that there was great danger from them. Some comets have "tails" more than 100,000,000 miles long, and their so-called "heads" are several times the diameter of the earth.

If all that material were solid, the earth would suffer greatly—it would be destroyed, in fact—in case of a collision. The fact is, however, that most of the material in a comet has less weight than air.

The gigantic tail of a comet is made up of a thin gas which is pushed out of the head by pressure from the sun's rays. All the gas in the tail of the largest comet has less weight than the water in Lake Erie.

Even the head of a comet is far from being a solid mass. Tests by astronomers appear to prove that the head is made up of gas, along with millions of small, solid parts. Some of the solid parts may equal the size of a house, but most of them are believed to be smaller than oranges.

Almost always a comet misses the earth completely. There is so much space in our solar system, that we can expect a comet to get around the sun without coming to any point less than 50,000,000 miles from the earth.

Now and then it seems that the earth does pass through the tail of a comet, without any harm coming to people. This is believed to have happened when Halley's Comet visited our solar system in 1910.

A head-on collision might cause trouble to some spots on the earth, but the earth could hardly be destroyed in that way. The largest comet on record has a small weight, or mass, compared to that of the earth—less than a millionth part of the earth's weight!

U.S. Plane Up Out Of Sight Hits Target With British Superbomb

FARGE, Germany (AP)—A United States Superfortress flying so high that it was out of sight scored a hit on a U-boat pen Wednesday with a British bomb that traveled at supersonic speed—too fast to be seen or heard.

This target practice was part of the newly-inaugurated Anglo-American project to test the penetration qualities of the latest-type armor-piercing bombs on the pen's concrete roof, which is from 12 to 24 feet thick.

Only radio signals from the high-flying aircraft to a communications truck at the observation post told the British and

U.S. observers on the ground what was going on overhead.

A signal officer said the missile carried no explosive and that its sharp report was caused less by the impact of steel against concrete than by the supersonic waves engendered by the bomb's speed.

While the phantom-like airplane headed back to its base at Giebelstadt, the observers scrambled to the pen—1,400 feet long, 300 feet wide and 75 high—to examine the bomb's performance.

These results are being kept secret by the air force officials. They declined to divulge how high the airplane was flying,

Duplessis Scores 5th By-Election

HUNTINGDON, Que. (CP)—The Union Nationale government of Premier Maurice Duplessis pointed to an unbroken string of five by-election victories today as a result of the success of John Rennie, an insurance agent, in the balloting in the Huntingdon constituency Wednesday.

Rennie, who served overseas as a major in the last war, captured the seat by a margin of 826 votes over Mrs. Mae O'Connor, first woman to seek a place in the provincial Legislature and widow of the man who had won the riding for the Liberals in the general election of 1944, and a by-election in 1941.

Says Too Many Pianos Out Of Tune In U.S.

DETROIT (AP)—This country faces a discordant future, if the sour predictions of the American Society of Piano Technicians can be believed.

The society, holding its annual convention here, set forth figures today to show that piano tuners in the U.S. are a vanishing race and spokesmen said that is a bad state of affairs from a musical and psychological standpoint. At present, reasoned society chairman A. V. (Jack) Minefie, there are 16,000,000 out-of-tune pianos in the United States and only 3,000 piano tuners. The workmen average 55 years of age, with very few young men in the business. They can't possibly get around to all the instruments that need attention, Minefie said. "The whole world will be eddied and either we'll have a nation of psychiatrists to take the piano tuners' place or we'll all go nuts," he predicted sadly.

Gil Sluggett's Ninth-Inning Home Run Gives Aces Victory

Sluggett, a name that for years has graced the roster of Brentwood and West Road athletic teams, came to the fore again last night as Brian and Gil, brothers on Rom Knott's Brentwood Aces senior A softball nine, combined to give the suburbanites a thrilling, 5 to 4, victory over Army and Navy Vets and assure the Aces of at least a tie for a playoff position in the torrid pennant race.

Brian Sluggett, with a neat six-hitter, hurled the victory for the Aces, but it was left to Gil to provide the feature of the action-packed encounter, when he homered in the first half of the ninth inning with one aboard, two men out, and his team trailing, 4 to 3.

With one game left on their schedule and that with the last-place Blue Bird Cabs nine, Brentwood now boasts 12 wins and 11 losses. Third-place Vets have four games left and can hurdle the Aces providing they win three. Douglas Tire, other team in the fight for a playdown position, need two wins in their final two games to tie Aces. Tomorrow night they meet Esquimalt Meat in a game that could decide their fate.

HELD EARLY LEAD

Brentwood took an early lead in last night's game scoring singletons in the second and third frames. Vets tied it up with single runs in the fourth and fifth.

Aces notched a lone run in the first half of the seventh to lead, 3 to 2, but Vets bounced back with two runs on Joe Travis' homer in the last half of the inning to go ahead, 4 to 3, and set the stage for Gil Sluggett's game winning blow in the ninth.

J. H. & E. moved into the finals of the women's senior B division by defeating Spencers 15 to 12 in an extra-inning game. It was the second straight victory for J. H. & E. who will now meet Don Harveys in the finals.

Five runs in the first half of the eighth inning while holding Spencers to two, gave J. H. & E. the triumph.

Trotters In Smart Diamond Display To Blank Davidites

Featured by some heavy hitting on the part of the Harlem Globe Trotters plus a three-hit pitching job by Roger Pierre, their pint-sized right hander, Abe Saperstein's colored gentlemen blanked the House of David, 8 to 0, in the first of a two-game exhibition series before 2,000 baseball fans at Athletic Park last night. The second game between the two clubs will take place tonight, starting at 8. The series is being presented by the Victoria Baseball League.

Far the better club on the night's play, Globe Trotters showed little respect for Dick Bryant and Dick Slater of the Davidites, pounding out a total of 17 base hits, four of which were for extra bases. Bryant started on the hill but was knocked out of the box in the third frame when Harlem erupted for five runs on five successive Saviours defaulted the final game of the series. Vets captured the first game of the play-downs, 8 to 7.

bingles. Slater gave up another pair of hits before retiring the side. He allowed another two runs in the fourth before settling down to pitch shutout ball the rest of the way.

Meanwhile Pierre, who showed a neat knuckleball and a wide sweeping hook, was mowing down the bearded boys with monotonous regularity. Touched for only three singles and allowing three walks Pierre was never in serious trouble as he turned in the shutout.

The game abounded with fielding gems, Gardiner, right fielder of the House of David, coming up with a beautiful over the shoulder catch on a long fly ball to right field. Williams, Harlem shortstop, and Costello, David's third baseman also turned in some brilliant fielding on hard hit ground balls.

PEPPER GAME GOOD

House of David's famed pepper game or "whose got the ball," presented by Doc Tally, George Anderson and Dick Wykoff, veteran members of the team, was deserving of special mention. Tally who has been with the club for 33 years has never shaved or had a haircut in that time. Anderson, 33 years old, had his first shave and haircut in the armed services.

Victoria Invaded By Many Tourists

Registration at local hotels reached a peak today as staff and management strove in vain to cope with an invasion of the city by United States tourists and visitors from the mainland.

"We are booked up until nearly the end of August," one hotel reported. "There is no way we can deal with the situation. Most of the tourists are being sent to homes and auto courts in and around the city."

Some tourists have complained of the lack of accommodations, but Chamber of Commerce officials pointed out the same conditions prevailed in nearly every city, and in some cases was much worse in United States cities.

The city has also been invaded by a number of visiting yachtsmen whose boats are anchored in the Inner Harbor, Cadboro Bay, and other points.

Transportation officials expected an increasing number of arrivals of British and European visitors as shipping conditions continue to improve. They pointed out that 700 passengers arrived on the Empress of Canada recently in Montreal.

Ss. Queen Mary, Refitted, Runs Trials

Cunard White Star Line announces the addition of many new luxury features in the conversion of the 81,235-ton Queen Mary, which will sail from Southampton on her postwar debut July 31, arriving at New York Aug. 5.

Not only has the Queen Mary been restored to her former beauty, H. P. Borer, general manager of the line says, but many new features have been introduced. These include addition of new public rooms, air-conditioning of more public rooms and increased space for the crew.

New ships under construction and expected in service by late summer and fall respectively are the Media and Parthia, postwar passenger-cargo liners of 14,000 tons. Also expected to return to service late this year is the 26,943-ton motorship Britannic, which is being converted for luxury passenger service at Liverpool.

The Navy League of Canada has requested permission from the City Council to erect two street banners in connection with Navy Week, which is to be observed Aug. 4 to 11.

Wholesalers Report Orange Prices Due For Another Boost

Orange prices jumped 50 cents a crate this week and are scheduled to go higher Aug. 1, when import duties of 75 cents a crate become effective, Victoria wholesalers reported today.

Lemons, on the other hand, are dropping in price and in all probability will continue to go lower. Housewives who intend to preserve apricots this year should buy their fruit immediately, wholesalers say. While there is a good supply of apricots on hand, shipments are falling off now the season is drawing to a close.

California and Washington peaches are now on the local market but Okanagan peaches are not expected until next week. The peach season is early this year.

Daily shipments of Okanagan cherries are being received here now but are expected to drop off sometime next week. Okanagan plums are plentiful.

Regular shipments of California grapes are being received. Prices are unusually reasonable since this has been a heavy season, but wineries are not buying. Shipments of California cantaloupes are expected to end this week. Next week's shipments will come from Washington.

Hot-house tomatoes are nearly over and already shipments of field tomatoes are coming in from Washington.

California pears are expected Friday. A carload of water-melons arrived yesterday.

"This summer we are short of only one or two items. Prices, in general, are reasonable and much lower than last year," one wholesaler commented.

Radio Star Harvests Big Crop Of Songs Written In Victoria

Jack Smith, singing star of the CBS network, on a tour in search for unpublished songwriters, met approximately 30 local songwriters at CJVI this afternoon and was presented with a crop of songs.

Earlier, the singing star, wearing a light sport coat met Cuthbert Holmes, president of the Chamber of Commerce, to discuss the forwarding of songs written by local songwriters. "I'm looking for simple tunes, simple melodies and lyrics," he said smilingly. "I want tunes which have warmth and can be hummed on buses, whistled on the street and danced under the moon."

Jack outlined the plan to have good local songs sent to his New York office where a skilled staff of arrangers would look over every song submitted. He said the 10 top unpublished songs of the year, would be featured on his daily coast-to-coast program, honoring the songwriter and his city.

"There are thousands of good unpublished songs in Canada and the United States," he said. "Before I left Spokane I received 400 songs."

"I don't care if the songs are balanced," he added. "I'm interested in the tune."

The songwriter said nearly every city he has visited on his tour had turned up at least one song worthy of being heard on the air. In many cases, he said, singers and song publishers had been sitting back and waiting for songs to come to them, and so had been missing good bets.

"That's why I'm on this tour," he said. "I felt something should be done about it."

Mr. Holmes presented the singer with a few songs written by up-island writers. One of the songs was named "Have you ever dunked a doughnut in Duncan" written by Lawrence Henslowe.

Jury Brings In Suicide Verdict, Finds Youth Mentally Deranged

After two minutes' deliberation today a coroner's jury brought in a verdict that Luke Harold Nelson, aged 17, 212 Wilson Street, came to his death July 19 by his own hand while mentally deranged. The inquest was held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors by Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner.

Evidence indicated the former Victoria High School student attacked his father, Axel Nelson, aged 60, causing serious injuries in a struggle in their Victoria West home and then cut his own throat with a carving knife with a six to eight-inch blade.

Dr. Hart said that while it would be a good thing for the court to be able to hear the father's testimony at his hospital bedside "I understand he is suffering from a fractured skull and will not be ready for an examination by us for about three months." He did not wish to delay proceedings.

Dr. N. Reilly, interne at Royal Jubilee Hospital, said the deceased was dead with a slashed throat when he saw him in hospital between 7 and 7.30 last Saturday morning.

When questioned the doctor said it was possible for the deceased to inflict the cut by himself, but he did not think the father, who had seven distinct gashes on top of his head, could have inflicted his own injuries "without a considerable amount of acrobatics."

In reply to a question from Detective Louis Callan, who investigated the case along with Detective Angus Munro, he said Mr. Nelson's wrists were cut, one badly, requiring seven stitches.

Dr. Reilly said in reply to Dr. Hart that such wrist wounds could have been done to a man who was defending himself.

FOUND ON VERANDA

Mrs. Alice Roberts, 210 Wilson Street, told of finding a man collapsed on her veranda between 6.30 and 6.45 Saturday in a bloody condition when she answered his summons from the doorbell. She telephoned the police at his request, but said that when she returned Axel Nelson had gone. She said her husband recognized the man as their neighbor.

Sgt. Thomas Stevenson of the city police said that he attended at 212 Wilson Street with two other constables and found the boy dead with a slashed throat in a pool of his own blood in the bedroom, and the father, with serious head wounds, lying on the side of the bed. Under the boy's head he found the carving knife and in the dining-room was a wrecking bar with blood and hair on it.

SIGNS OF STRUGGLE

The bedroom, Sgt. Stevenson said, was in a state of disorder and showed signs of a struggle. He told of the blood-smeared condition of the floor and clothes.

Town Topics

The Greater Victoria School Board has agreed to lease David Spencer Park for a 20-year term, at $1 per year, the City Council was informed today.

Denys H. Back, wartime housing official from Vancouver, was in Victoria today, consulting with City Solicitor A. J. Paton on details of the transfer of title deeds of the land on which wartime houses are built.

Victoria marksmen are doing well at the B.C. rifle meet in Vancouver this week. Ald. B. J. Gadsden reported, on his return today with the city police team. W. A. Large, 1149 Bay Street, won with 103 points out of a possible 105 shooting on the 200, 500 and 600-yard ranges. Ald. Gadsden said.

Acting Mayor Edward Williams, Councillor John Oliver of Saanich, and John Baxter, visited Elk Lake Wednesday with William Bridgwood and M. P. Paine of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, to inspect the development work done by the organization on the southwest of the lake shore to develop a beach and picnic grounds.

James R. James, 1539 Myrtle Street, was treated for cuts to the head at St. Joseph's Hospital today and then released, following an accident at Quadra Street and McKenzie Avenue at 6, when his car jumped the curb and collided with a telephone pole. Cpl. Jack Hamilton and Constable Robert Coleman attended for Saanich Police and took the injured man to hospital.

Baseball Leading Sport At Number Of Playgrounds

Baseball takes over as the leading feature of playground news this week, with results of a number of games, organization of teams and announcement that Ted Norbert and members of the Athletics baseball club will again give practical demonstrations.

Esquimalt boys' team continues to set the pace in league play defeating Victoria West in a game this week. James Bay and Hollywood Park registered wins over Beacon Hill in other contests. Hollywood Park and Victoria West meet Friday.

A midweek league is being formed for boys 6 to 8 years of age, with the first games scheduled between James Bay and Central Park at Central Park Friday. Members of the Athletics will give instruction at Central Park next Wednesday.

Eliminations for the all-playground boxing tournament are now being held. Finals will take place at Athletic Park Aug. 20 with Mr. Norbert as master of ceremonies.

Esquimalt playground will have another open-air concert Friday, with special features, including a decorated vehicle parade, displays of handiwork, folk dancing and tumbling. Playground classes for younger children will be held at Esquimalt High School at the end of the month, while at Mrs. Halstead's playground on Lyall Street, Mrs. Wyatt will take charge of the small children.

Oak Bay playgrounds will present their final program Monday. Particulars will be announced later.

A special feature at Todd Park is Miss Bagshaw's Bible story telling. Gordon Berod has assisted at the playgrounds with his accordion solos and as a result fine community singing has been enjoyed.

JURY BRINGS

Dr. Alcorn said Axel Nelson had been a patient of his. He had had the father, a first war veteran, placed on the "totally incapacitated" list with the pensions board. The doctor said the father was a very nervous individual and there was a certain amount of resemblance in the cases of father and son.

Dr. Alcorn said he spoke to the father in the hospital after the incident and that Mr. Nelson had told him they had had a "bit of a discussion." Continuing, he said, "the father could be most argumentative and undiplomatic."

Dr. Hart, in summing up said he had examined the body "and there is only one wound on the body, the cut throat. The father's injuries could not have been done by himself. I think from the evidence you have heard you can see the picture of what happened in that room. There is definite evidence the boy was mentally defective, but not sufficiently enough when examined to have him locked up."

The father's statement taken by police in hospital was not read.

The jury was composed of Edward W. Hay,orman, Brock Wilson, Fred W. Smith, William R. Clark, Patrick Barry and James Burbridge.

Permission Granted To Get Water From Albert Head Main

The agreement with the federal authorities to permit attachment of a three-inch main to the Albert Head water system, to supply 13 residents of Duke Road has finally been received. Ald. F. N. Cabell, chairman of the water board, announced today. The water board has been negotiating with federal authorities for two years to obtain the permission.

Ald. Cabell said work would start on the water mains as soon as the necessary pipe could be obtained. At the present time, he said, pipe supplies are exceedingly short and deliveries are not promised on new orders until well into 1948.

The water board at the meeting discussed the Saanich situation briefly, he said, and is prepared to do everything possible to co-operate with the municipality to solve the problem.

The board will recommend acceptance of a tender for fittings and valves from Crane Limited at a cost of $3,683. Tenders for pipe were sent back to the water commissioner to get the specifications clarified.

It was decided to recommend the purchase of three trailers at a cost of $125 each.

Want Loading Zone

Vancouver Island Coach Lines have made application to the City Council for a bus loading zone on the east side of Gordon Street from the corner of Court Street to Broughton Street.

It was explained that the extra loading zone will be used to handle passengers boarding coaches at the depot for points within Greater Victoria, in connection with expansion taking place as a result of the new franchise.

Neal Pledges C.P.R. Fleet As Continuing Major Trade Link

MONTREAL — The Canadian Pacific fleet was pledged as a continuing major link between countries of the British Commonwealth and the rest of the world by W. M. Neal, C.B.E., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, at a luncheon aboard R.M.S. Empress of Canada which yesterday reopened this port to trans-Atlantic passenger travel as she docked here with 700 passengers from Liverpool.

Minister of Reconstruction Howe, who is acting minister in charge of immigration, proposed the toast to the ship, saw the Empress of Canada as helping out in the movement of immigrants who "can contribute much to our national economy and who have been held up by the world shortage of passenger ships."

After recapitulating the Canadian Pacific's war losses, in which 14 of 22 ships which went to war were lost, Mr. Neal reviewed the plan of the company for the future, "so far as forecast is possible at this stage of the game."

A sister ship of the Empress of Canada, the Duchess of Bedford, has been restored to our hands, and at the earliest possible moment will take to the sea again in regular service on the Atlantic. The Empress of Scotland, flagship of the Pacific which came through the war unscathed in the essentials, is still in Admiralty service. She will soon be available, we hope, for refitting and service where she may be most urgently needed, whether on the Atlantic or the Pacific.

Local Shipyards Did Not Bid On Big Contract

Local shipyards did not bid on the $2,500,000 shipbuilding contract involving the construction for the federal government of a new cargo-passenger-icebreaker ship for Arctic use. In Vancouver the contract was also passed up.

"We are not prepared to state why we did not bid on the contract," stated H. S. Hammill, manager of the Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. "There are many reasons."

Mr. Hammill said there was a serious shortage of steel and building conditions were difficult at the present time. But he added the company was not turning down contracts for these reasons.

Shipping officials are of the opinion that the contract may be awarded to Marine Industries, Montreal.

The ship to be built will be pressed into service by the Transport Department as a patrol ship in the eastern Arctic, taking over from the Nascope, wrecked Monday in Hudson Strait.

Council To Meet On Meter By-law

A special meeting of the City Council will be held Friday afternoon to introduce enabling by-law for the operation of parking meters.

The public works committee, under the chairmanship of Ald. J. D. Hunter, has met with representatives of commercial vehicle operators to discuss provisions for loading and unloading of merchandise. It has been decided to recommend that commercial vehicles be permitted to park anywhere in the metered areas for periods not exceeding 15 minutes for purposes of loading and unloading, without charge.

Applications have been called for the positions of a parking meter collector and an assistant. Commencing salary for the collector will be $140 a month, and for the assistant $120 a month.

Represent City At Regional Conference

President James Munro and secretary J. Nelson Gibson of the Victoria Canadian Club, and P. J. Staghall and G. H. Gowan, Victoria members of the B.C. regional executive council, will represent this city at the regional conference of B.C. Canadian Clubs to be held in Vancouver Friday.

J. B. Gorley, Ottawa, president of the Dominion Association, will be guest of honor at the conference and Col. A. M. Brown, O.B.E., will be the chief speaker.

No Special Meeting On Clean-up Of Reds

Unless official word is received here from Canadian Congress of Labor headquarters, no special meeting of the Victoria Labor Council (C.C.L.) will be called to discuss reported Communist elements in its ranks. T. A. Mitchell, president of the council reported today.

However, Mr. Mitchell said, despite the fact there had been no official announcements on the matter, the Communist question would come up at the council's next general meeting in about two weeks' time.

Sockeye Pack Shows Gain Over Last Year

British Columbia's sockeye salmon pack to date this year continues well ahead of the 1946 total to this date but is more than 50,000 cases behind the 1945 total.

The federal fisheries department in Vancouver reported today the pack to last week-end totaled 101,300 48-pound cases, compared with 75,701 cases at the same date last year and 152,686 cases at the same date in 1945.

Total salmon pack to date this year is 126,035 cases, compared with 110,493 at the same date last year and 197,606 cases at the same date in 1945.

Only sockeye catches this year are exceeding those of last year.

Widow Makes Claim On Fields' Estate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The widow of W. C. Fields alleges in a $241,225 claim against his estate that in his lifetime he spread gifts lavishly among women friends.

The petition, filed Wednesday in Superior Court by Mrs. Harriett Fields, estranged from the comedian since shortly after they were married in 1900, alleges she learned after his death that during the years he was "secretly engaged in giving away sums of money" which she estimated totaled at least $482,450.

On the contention that Fields was virtually penniless when they were married and that he amassed his fortune, appraised at $800,000, during their marriage, she claimed half the $482,450 as community property.

Susan Peters Returns To Studio; Making New Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It was a long, hard pull, but Susan Peters made it. She is making a movie again.

Looking pretty beautiful, Susan has started "Sign of the Ram," in which she plays a mean woman. I found her as excited as a girl at her first high school prom.

"Oh, they've been wonderful to me," she enthused.

"Everything has been done to make me comfortable. I'm not even conscious of the camera. When I did my first scene, I was worried because I thought they were just shooting the back of my head. Then they told me the camera was in front of me all the time."

Virtually nothing has been overlooked to safeguard Susan's health. Her aunt, a nurse, is with her all the time, and her brother wheels her around and acts as general guardian. Because Susan is subject to a heat rash, her dressing room and the whole set are especially cooled.

Even some of Columbia's hard and fast rules have been overlooked. No star, not even Rita Hayworth, has been permitted to drive on the lot, but Susan's hand-controlled car now is admitted. She is permitted to have lunch in her dressing room, a precedent at Columbia.

Provision has been made for a shorter working day. Instead of the usual 9 to 6 routine, she arrives at 10.30 and leaves around 4. Make-up people are sent to her home in the morning so her preparation for the camera will be more comfortable.

And so another step has been taken by Susan in her steady fight against the paralysis that gripped her from the waist down after a hunting accident two and one-half years ago. Although there is scant hope that she will walk again, she hasn't let that limit her activities. Among other things she has learned to fly, adopted a baby and invested in a dress shop.

The latest news about Susan is that she has severed her connection with M.G.M. She has a respect for the studio, but it doesn't permit players to participate in picture profits.

"So I asked for a release," she said, "because the only way for me to make pictures is with a percentage. My lawyer has arranged it so I will be paid over a period of 10 years. It's like an annuity."

She said she would like to make another film right away, then follow with one a year.

New Dominion Film Stars Jack Carson

Jack Carson's no egomaniac—despite the fact that he likes to sing about "me."

For his role as a struggling lyricist in Warner Bros. "Love and Learn," in which he is co-starred with Bob Hutton, Martha Vickers and Janis Paige, coming tomorrow to the Dominion Theatre, the genial comic warbles three new tunes entitled "Happy

Me," "If You Are Coming Back to Me," and "Would You Believe Me?"

First two tunes were written by Moe Jerome and Jack Scholl, the latter by Jerome with lyrics by Charles Tobias.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Van Johnson is the young navy flyer in "High Barbaree," M.G.M.'s romantic story of a love that could not die, which is now being shown on the Capitol screen this week. June Allyson co-stars with Van in their first picture together since "Two Girls and a Sailor."

U.S., British Stars Teamed At Oak Bay

Teaming America's top screen hero, Van Johnson, with Keenan Wynn and Britain's most popular screen heroine, Pat Kirkwood, M.G.M.'s new musical romance, "No Leave, No Love," opens at the Oak Bay Theatre with a galaxy of stars, songs and laughs.

Additional explosive ingredients include not one but two nationally famous dance bands—Guy Lombardo's and Xavier Cugat's. Combined, the result is a swiftly-moving, tune-filled romantic comedy packed with action, laughs, beauty and fun and aimed for a bull's-eye of entertainment.

Linda Darnell Seen In New Role At York

Beautiful Linda Darnell, whose screen career up to now has been devoted to the portrayal of "sweet young things," is seen in a new type of role with the opening of "Hangover Square," the new 20th Century-Fox thriller, at the York Theatre today.

Linda is a voluptuous, scheming, music hall entertainer who rides rough-shod over men's hearts in her desire for success. Starred with her are Laird Cregar and George Sanders, with Glenn Langan, Faye Marlowe and Alan Napier seen in featured roles.

"Hangover Square" was directed by John Brahm and produced by Robert Bassler.

PLAZA THEATRE

The Great Expectations of Pip, a blacksmith's apprentice, come true when he is left a fortune. It is not until he is grown up that he learns his benefactor is Magwitch, an escaped convict to whom Pip showed a kindness. To repay Pip, Magwitch left him all the money he had made in Australia. "Great Expectations" is now showing at the Plaza Theatre, and stars Valerie Hobson and John Mills.

Real Pepper Soon Says Ottawa Story

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians who have come to accept a wartime substitute for real pepper—an ersatz preparation of bran flakes and other ingredients but with only a little of the hot stuff—may be able to get the real thing by fall, but they'll probably have to pay more for it.

Informed quarters here said Wednesday that the Prices Board recently informed the pepper trade in Canada that the wartime practice of bulk-buying of pepper through the Canadian Stabilization Corporation would be halted. Supplies of the ersatz pepper now on hand are expected to last until September, but after that the trade apparently will be free to make its own purchases on the world market.

It is believed that with this wartime practice of bulk-buying discarded, the 24-cent-a-pound Canadian price ceiling also may be lifted so that pepper dealers can buy in the world market and still sell at a profit. The average world price of pepper now is much above the Canadian ceiling.

Canadian Delayed After Fight On Plane

KARACHI, India (CP)—A Pan American clipper plane transporting a group of Canadian sailors from Calcutta to North America took off today without Clifford Robinson, 35, of Winnipeg, who was tied to a chair and gagged after crew members had subdued a fight aboard the plane on a flight from Calcutta to Karachi Wednesday.

Police reported Wednesday night that the fight among the Canadian sailors broke out over payment of expense money paid after they had delivered the steamship Norway Victory to Calcutta from Vancouver, B.C.

Robinson, who claimed he had been tied up for most of the Calcutta-Karachi trip, was permitted to proceed to a hotel to day after the plane had resumed its flight. A Pan American spokesman said he might be permitted to continue his journey on the next Clipper. A Pan American announcement Wednesday night had said: "A passenger was put off for disorderly behavior."

Geologist, Formerly U.B.C. Professor, Dies

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Stuart J. Schofield, 62, distinguished Canadian geologist who made many important government surveys in the Dominion, Mexico and China, died Wednesday night at his home here.

He came to the University of British Columbia in 1915, starting the course in geology there, and after serving in the First World War, returned in 1920 as professor of geology. Ill-health forced his retirement in 1938. In 1945, he was made professor emeritus.

Colquitz Telephone Exchange Extension

Work has started on construction of a $2,500 extension to the Colquitz exchange building of the B.C. Telephone Company to provide more business office space, enlarged staff quarters and facilities for eventual installation of a second section of switchboard.

Parfitt Construction Co. Ltd. of Victoria has the contract for the building work, which is expected to be completed about the end of the summer.

While installation of the second section of switchboard depends on delivery of supplies now on order, immediate relief is planned for the fall with the addition of equipment capable of serving 110 more telephones in the Colquitz area.

At the present time Colquitz has 726 telephones, a gain of 173 since Jan. 1, 1946.

Chambers, Chesnes Prize Beauties Of Coast League

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The coast has nothing but cheers for chuckers Chambers and Chesnes. Left and right, that's Cliff Chambers, Los Angeles southpaw headed for the Chicago Cubs, and Bob Chesnes, San Francisco star-boarder, ticketed for the New York Giants.

Both, if allowed to finish the year in the Coast League, appear certain to top the 25-win mark. With the season less than two-thirds gone, Chesnes has won 17, lost six; Chambers, 16 and five. You can get a strong argument going among scouts with the question, "Which is the better prospect?" but the ivory hunters agree both should make the grade in the majors.

This is only Chesnes' first season in AAA ball; it is Chambers' second. In four meetings against each other, Chambers—backed by a stronger hitting club—has won thrice.

GREAT PROSPECT

Chesnes, 26-year-old six-footer, is another graduate of the San Francisco sandlots. A fine all-around player, he won 18, lost six with Salt Lake last year and batted .349, playing in the infield when not on the mound.

Chambers' record, not so spectacular because the Angels have more pitching depth than the Seals, shows 14 complete games in 22 appearances, 46 earned runs in 162 innings (about 2.50 per game) and 93 strikeouts.

Normally a price tag of at least $100,000 would be attached to each of these beauties. Actually, Chambers is subject

The over-all gain for all types of advertising was 22.9 per cent. Gain for the first five months of 1947, as contrasted with the corresponding 1946 period, was 19.1 per cent.

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP)—The United Kingdom took 370,000 bushels of wheat under the Canadian wheat agreement and Belgium took 55,000 bushels of wheat in export business reported on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Rye futures prices showed declining tendencies on selling, influenced by reports of moisture in some areas in the west and weaknesses at Chicago.
